

OLD AND NEW IN STATION FASHIONS

Each is a choice example of an up-to-the-minute structure of its period. At the top is seen the new Canadian National Railway Central Station in Montreal now in service after being inaugurated by the Minister of Transport. Below is a view of old Bonaventure Station taken in 1888 when it was opened for business. The photograph was taken by William Notman, whose pictures of Montreal are old and new form part of the historical record of the Metropolis.

Old Bonaventure welcomed numerous distinguished travellers including Royalty. It will remain in service for suburban trains and part of the structure will be remodelled to serve men and women of the active forces travelling in and out of Montreal by special trains.

Charming Wedding Event at First United Church

Miss Marjorie Dalgarno and Pte. Russell Bentley Married on Monday.

Baskets of tall fern and mixed garden bouquets formed a pretty floral setting in the United Church Monday afternoon at 2:00 for the wedding of Marjorie Dalgarno daughter of Sgt. George Dalgarno, R. C. A. F. and

Wedding of Great Local Interest in Toronto, Saturday

Mrs. G. Dalgarno and Russell Bentley of the Army Ordnance Corps. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bentley. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Vaclavick. George Hale was at the organ, and after the ceremony Mrs. Fred Norman soloist, sang "Because". Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two-piece powder blue suit, with peplum jacket buttoned down the front, scrolled shoulder and three-quarter length sleeves. Her hat was a white eyelet mesh pompadour with misty blue veiling, and her other accessories were in white. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas, with sprays of tiny white flowers throughout the entire bouquet.

Mrs. Vic Haneberry attended the bride as matron of honour, dressed in a two-piece dress of dusty pink crepe with small loops around the shoulder and bottom of the jacket. She wore navy accessories and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and bright blue cornflowers. She received as a gift from the bride a sterling silver engraved compact.

Mr. Vic Haneberry, R.C.A.F., was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. J. Ormston and Mrs. J. Cowan. The groom's gift to the best man was a leather air force bilfold and to the ushers, bilfolds also.

The reception was held at the McIntyre Lounge room and the loveliest of all table decorations was that containing the wedding cake as the centerpiece with white candles at each side. Reaching from either side of the cake to the candles was tapered white tulle ribbon with gold lettering spelling out the names, "Russ and Marj". Miniature bowls of flowers added to its full beauty as did the mixed garden bouquets to the whole room.

Mrs. Dalgarno received in a two-piece blue printed crepe suit with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Bentley, mother of the groom assisted in a blue and white checked dress with redingote, and navy blue accessories. A corsage of yellow roses completed the ensemble.

For travelling the bride chose a brown and white check cotton suit with a white lace embroidered yoke, a little Dutch cap, and other accessories in white.

They left for the south for two weeks after which the bride will return to Timmins and the groom will return to his station.

AN OLD PLAN

Man—Seven years ago I arrived in this town with only one dollar, but that dollar gave me my start. Friend—You must have invested it very profitably. Man—I did. I telegraphed home for money. — Globe and Mail.

Military Attendants at Ceremony Between Miss McLaughlin and Captain Clarke in St. John's Chapel

Last Saturday was the day on which Miss Mary McLaughlin, formerly of Timmins where she was on the staff of the High School here, wed Captain Donald Clarke who was also at one time an instructor in the same school. An account of the wedding appeared in the Toronto Star on July 17th and read as follows:

"Settings of white and coral gladioli decorated St. John's chapel of St. Michael's cathedral this afternoon, when Mary Lenore McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick McLaughlin became the bride of Captain Donald T. Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Clarke, Aylmer. Father McQuillen officiated. Harold Armstrong was at the organ. During the service George Flannigan, Robert McClelland and Frank Corcoran, boy chorists, sang Cesar Franck's Panis Angelicus. Entering the chapel on her father's arm, the bride wore a gown of deep ivory lace, which had been worn by her mother. Fashioned on classic princess lines, it was made with short cap sleeves, and a deep heart-shaped neckline. Seed pearl embroidery encrusted the bodice, and the full skirt swept into a slight train. She wore a mantilla of rose point lace, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and swansonia. Her only ornament was a silver filigree lotus flower pin from India. The bride's sister, Dorothea McLaughlin, was her only attendant, wearing a frock of matching lace inset into the bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of coral roses, with gladioli petals. Major Clarence R. Ostrander was best man, and the ushers were Stuart Clarke and Alvin Hartman, R.C.A.F. Later Mrs. McLaughlin received, at the Alexandra Palace, wearing an ensemble of pink chiffon, with a hat fashioned of flowers in matching shaded tones. Her corsage was of swansonia, pink roses and blue delphinium petals. Mrs. Clarke, mother of the bridegroom, assisting, had chosen a frock of cameo blue crepe, accented with a deeper tone. Her corsage was of pink carnation petals and blue delphinium. The couple left for the Laurentians, the bride travelling in a frock of garden rose crepe over which was worn a matching coat. Accessories of crushed strawberry with a corsage of gardenias and stephanotis completed her costume."

HOW HE DID IT

Out of curiosity a farmer had grown a crop of flax and had had a tablecloth made out of the linen. Sometime later he remarked to a visitor at dinner: "I grew this tablecloth myself." "Did you really?" she exclaimed. "How did you ever manage it?" It was plain she had no idea of how tablecloths came into being, so the farmer lowered his voice mysteriously as he replied: "If you promise not to give the secret away, I'll tell you." The guest promised. "Well," proceeded the farmer, "I planted a napkin!" — Christian Science Monitor

CONSTRUCTIVE PROPOSALS IN PUBLIC INTEREST

Speaking over the C.B.C. network Friday night, July 16th, Leslie M. Frost, M.P.P. for Victoria and Harbourton, one of the outstanding Progressive Conservative members in the Ontario Legislature, emphasized the fact that the 22-point program recently enunciated by George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, was the product of extended consultation with his followers; and that it was unanimously adopted at a largely attended meeting of party candidates and officials from all over Ontario held at the Royal York Hotel on Saturday, July 10th.

Not only this, said Mr. Frost, the platform given out after that meeting was the natural sequence and outcome of constructive proposals made in the legislature by Mr. Drew and his associates. Ever since the war began the Opposition, led by Mr. Drew, has at each session put forward a series of resolutions conceived in the public interest. These proposals, added the member for Victoria and Harbourton, have been either adopted or declared out of order by a Liberal Speaker.

On February 14th, 1941, the Opposition, submitted a resolution, calling upon the Government to move for a conference of representatives of the Dominion and of all the provinces for the following purposes: To adopt such measures by inter-provincial co-operation as may be necessary: (a) To assure the greatest war and post-war effort; (b) To meet emergencies created by the war; (c) To assure adequate prices for agricultural products; (d) To protect the established rights of labor.

And to devise plans for the rehabilitation of the members of our armed forces and for the re-employment of civilians who may be thrown out of work by post-war industrial readjustment; and to consider such other questions relating to the welfare and security of the people as may be deemed advisable.

TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING

The advisability of planning beforehand for post-war recovery was expressed upon the House by the Opposition in a resolution which read: That the proposed St. Lawrence development and other public undertakings throughout the province, in the opinion of this Legislature, call for the immediate creation of an Ontario Town and Country Planning Commission, with authority to recommend and supervise plans for the reconstruction, reclamation, and development of rural and urban areas.

ECONOMY URGED

In the same session the Opposition, impressed by the need for economy in the administration of the province, brought in a resolution: That the estimates for the current year be referred back to the executive council with instructions to decrease the total amount of supply by $25,000,000. This was turned down by the Liberals, including Mr. Nixon.

FOREST RESOURCES

Later on Mr. Drew's followers offered a resolution demanding that the administration and control of the provincial forest resources be placed under the direction of a public body to be known as the Ontario Forest Resources Commission, after the manner of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission.

RECONSTRUCTION PLANS

In the late session of the Legislature (1943) the Opposition kept up the pressure for action by submitting this resolution: This House regrets that the Liberal Government has introduced no legislation to provide for the re-establishment in civilian occupations of the members of our forces, for after war reconstruction, and for work, wages, and social security for our people.

UNIFORM RATE FOR HYDRO

The next resolution submitted by the Opposition asserted that the Hydro Electric resources of the Province belonged to all the people; and that it is therefore desirable that the Hydro Electric Power Commission Act be amended immediately to equalize rates for electric energy and remove the present service charge in rural areas.

TO MEET FUEL SHORTAGE

An Opposition resolution dealing with the current fuel shortage read: In the opinion of this House a fuel committee should be appointed to inquire into the fuel situation and to recommend to the government measures to assure the greatest possible supply of fuel for the coming winter.
