Find New Liskeard Girl Lying Unconscious on Road

Sixteen-year-old Vivian Villneff, of St. Catherines street, New Liskeard was found lying unconscious on the road to Dawson's Point, Dominion Day. Mrs. Tessier and her brother, John Gauvreau, revived the girl, and just at that time a provincial police officer came along and took the young lady to New Liskeard for medical attention. She could not tell what had happened, but complained of a pain in the head, and a lump on back of her head was located by the doctor who reported that she was suffering a slight concussion. She was taken home and later reports are that she is making recovery. The girl says that the last she remembers before the accident is that she was crossing the road. Traffic was heavy on the road at the time and the most plausible explanation is that the young lady was hit by a car. No accidents of that kind, how- carello, J. Murphy, R. Mustard. Canadian Motorists THE invasion of Europe has thrown the petroleum resources of the United Nations. In the first eight days of the campaign alone Allied aircraft flew 56,000 sorties. Many thousands of oil-burning warships and landing barges are shuttling ceaselessly across the Channel. Tanks, trucks, jeeps, mobile artillery, ambulances, by the thou-

Canada is able to produce only 15% of her own gas and oil needs. The remainder must be imported from the common pool of the United Nations and the bulk of this is shipped here by tankers. Critical manpower is needed to produce our gasoline and oil. Precious lives and precious ships
