TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files

Ten years ago Rev. Father O'Gorman was on a tour of the Mediterranean and his letters home were of special interest and value of the readers of The Advance. In the issue of March 7th, 1935, he gave a vivid description of a call at Madeira and Gibraltar, one of the features of the account being a reference to "winter sports without snow."

Police court cases ten years ago were along somewhat similar lines to those of to-day. Reading over the files of years ago it is easy to see why magistrate Atkinson knows all the answers, as there is hardly any sort of defence that has not been tried before. For instance, not in recent weeks, but ten years ago, the police visited a place where a round of gambling games seemed to be in progress. As it was Sunday night, the police charged the "whole works." The owner of the house was tried for "running a common gaming house," and the others present with gambling on the Lord's Day. There were a few cents on the table when the police managed to get in, but the witnesses all agreed that they were not gambling, but just having a friendly game, the money on the table being explained as dropping there when one of the card players pulled some matches out of his pocket to light his cigarette. Following his principle of giving the benefit of any doubt, if there be any doubt, to the accused, the magistrate dismissed the owner, but fined all the players $10 and costs each. There was a doubt of course, as to whether there was any rake-off or not, but it would take something more than optimism to convince anybody that there had been no gambling in that case.

In 1935 King George V observed the 25th anniversary of his ascent to the British throne. There was a disposition to shower the King with gifts, but he made it plain that he did not wish this. Instead, he suggested that any affection that might be felt for him could be best demonstrated by help to his people. As an indication of what he felt, he instituted the King's Fund for Cancer, to raise funds for the study of the disease and the best methods to combat it. In an editorial The Advance referred to this truly royal plan to combat a disease that was taking a sad toll of human lives.

Mayor R. Richardson ten years ago disabused the minds of some people in regard to the theory industriously spread by some that light and power rates were unfairly high in this North. Special references had been made to the cost of street lighting, and Mayor Richardson gave the figures for a number of towns and cities to show that Timmings fared fairly well. In Toronto the cost of street lighting was 85 cents per head of population; Port Arthur 98 cents; in some of the smaller centres as much as $2.35 per head; while in Timmings, as well lighted as any of the places quoted, it was 33 cents per capita.

G. W. Saych, father of G. E. Saych, of the Northern Ontario Power Co., died here ten years ago. He had resided with his son here for 13 years, and was 83 years of age at the time of death. He was a native of Surrey, England, where he "had lived the greater part of his long life."

Another death recorded by The Advance ten years ago was that of Mrs. F. Roy, widow of Frank Roy who conducted a wood business in Timmings for some years. Mrs. Roy was survived by one son, Leo, living in Timmings, and also by four daughters resident here, and a brother who resided in Timmings, as well as other relatives.

Fire believed to have started from a carelessly thrown cigarette butt, did $12,000 damage to the St. Onge building at the foot of Third avenue ten years ago. The building was gutted beyond repair. The building had sawdust and shavings packed between the walls and this made the fire difficult to control. It proved an unusually stubborn fire, largely on this account. The firemen were given high praise for the skilled and effective way in which they battled the blaze at this building.

For the year 1934 the circulation of books from the Timmings Public Library came close to the 100,000 mark. The membership of the library was given then as 5,377.

As The Advance was about to go to press on March 11th, 1935, word reached here that Mrs. Sam Bucovetsky, one of the pioneers of the town of Timmings, and very highly esteemed by all who knew her, had passed away suddenly in Miami, Florida, that morning. Although Mrs. Bucovetsky had been in poor health for some time, and as a matter of fact had gone to Florida for that reason, her death was not expected and came as a serious shock to all who knew her. Before her marriage the late Mrs. Bucovetsky was a Miss Rabkin, of Cobalt. In addition to the bereaved husband, Mrs. Bucovetsky was survived by three daughters and one son. Two of the daughters, Rose and Ida, were in Florida with their mother at the time of the latter's death, while the third daughter, Ann, was continuing her studies at the University of Toronto. The son, Meyer Bucovetsky, was in Timmings at the time of his mother's death.

Ten years ago the planes at South Porcupine were doing considerable valuable work along the line known as "Mercy flights." One of these was to fly into Matachewan and bring out for medical and surgical attention a man who had seriously injured himself while skiing.

Ten years ago the rink skipped by J. R. Walker won the club event. A five-team basketball league to include Timmings, Schumacher and South Porcupine was formed here ten years ago.

The Advance ten years ago had an extended account of the wedding of Miss Joy McCarthy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCarthy, of 163 Elm street South, Timmings, and Donald T. Kelly, of London, Ont. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Bruce Millar, of the Timmings United Church. Mrs. Dr. Day presided at the organ. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ruby McCarthy. The groomsmen was B. G. Rutherford, brother-in-law of the bride. The newly wedded couple left for London, Ont., where they took up residence.

Mr. McLean of Clute, was quite seriously injured ten years ago when he slipped while attempting to board a train at South Porcupine station. He grabbed the train just as it was leaving and fell between the platform and the rail. His head struck the lower battery boxes of the train. The train stopped at once and every attention was given the injured man. He was hurried to the hospital where it was found that he was suffering from concussion and possibly other injuries. For some time Mr. McLean was in considerable danger but eventually was able to return to his home in Clute township.

Among the local and personal items in The Advance ten years ago the following will be of interest at this time:—"W. D. Watt is making good recovery after an operation some weeks ago."—"F. E. Miller, of Iroquois Falls was a Timmings visitor on Saturday."—"Miss Pearl Brown, Reg. N., of St. Mary's hospital, returned to her home at Iroquois Falls on Friday for a few weeks' holiday."—"Ed. St. Louis returned to Timmings to-day after attending the National Hairdressers' convention at Toronto."—"Mrs. Wm. Laferty, of New Liskeard, is spending a few weeks at the home of her daughter Mrs. Alf. Holland, and of her son, Mr. Roy Lafferty, of the Coniarum."—"Mrs. Arthur Olsen, who was taken suddenly ill on Thursday last, and has been in St. Mary's hospital since that time, is making satisfactory progress to recovery."—"Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sullivan and family returned on Tuesday evening from a pleasant vacation in Florida."—"W. A. Griffin, of the T. & N. O. Railway headquarters in North Bay, was a Timmings visitor this week."—"Mrs. Gilbert Desroches, who underwent an operation in St. Mary's hospital last week, is making excellent progress to recovery."—"Mr. Geo. Lee and Mrs. Lee, and their son, Robert, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Campbell at Schumacher last week."—"Mrs. S. L. Honey was called to Oakwood this week owing to the death of her father."—"Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pritchard returned to Timmings on Tuesday after spending a holiday in Florida."—"Capt. G. F. Morris, of the Navy League, is in town on business this week."

Legion Courses Show Value of Planned Reading System

Ottawa, March 6—(Special)—An outstanding feature of the Canadian Legion Educational Services long-range program for the men and women wearing the uniforms of the navy army and air force, and which will be of distinct advantage to those taking part in it, is that of "planned reading."

The advantage will undoubtedly come in the post-war years, or on discharge before the end of the war, because it is a recognized fact among employers and employees alike that the man or woman who has educational background is more acceptable to the various fields of employment.

Under the planned reading part of the Education Service program is a lengthy classified list of guides to reading written by outstanding authorities and with advice and suggestions on what books to read in order to fully acquaint the reader with the particular subject or subjects in which he or she is interested.

The guides to reading are published in booklet form and are available to the servicemen and women in uniform who may select from these booklets the books they desire to read. Applications for the books listed in the guides to reading are obtainable by servicemen and women on forms which may be completed at the various service units throughout the country and forwarded to one of thirteen Canadian Legion Educational Services regional offices.

Thereupon books are mailed to the applicants on loan for a month. Postage both ways is paid by C.L.E.S.

It is interesting to note that a large number of servicemen and women already have expressed a preference for material on interior decorating. An appreciable number have shown an inclination toward photography and home gardening. Others lean toward psychology or child psychology.

There is a variety of other subjects, all noted for their clarity and simplicity.

For instance, there is a guide to reading on Labour Problems. This one was prepared by Neil L. McKellor who came to Ottawa from Vancouver via the University of California where he lectured on labour problems. He is now a civil servant and gives a course of evening lectures at Carleton College, Ottawa. Another interesting guide deals with social security. This was written by George P. Davidson, M.A., Ph. D., who has been in Ottawa for about three years as executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council. He is from British Columbia and is now deputy minister of the Department of National Health and Welfare.

For service personnel interested in the Far East there is a guide by Arthur R. Menzies, M.A., a member of the Far Eastern Division of the Department of External Affairs at Ottawa. Mr. Menzies lived for ten years in China, five years in Japan, and is well qualified to give servicemen and women a proper slant on the Far East. R. M. Saunders, M.A., Ph. D., a history teacher at the University of Toronto is the author of a guide on the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Dr. Saunders is well known among educational officers having been a member of a team that conducted short courses last summer at several Canadian Universities.

The aforementioned guides are only a smattering of the vast variety available to men and women in uniform. The list includes guides on Canada, past and present; the Canadian North; Canadian Biography; Background of the War; Latin America; the U.S.A.; Marriage; Home Management; Architecture and Town Planning; Rehabilitation and Re-Establishment; Pleasure from Art; Community Drama; Writing for Print; Theology and Biblical Literature.

In the French-language list are included Horticulture Domestique, Psychologie, Geographie Canadienne, Les Methodes Scientifiques Dans l'Education, and Le Canada.

Drilling Resumed at the New Augarita Property

Diamond drilling is to be resumed immediately by New Augarita Porcupine Mines Ltd., on its property adjoining Preston East Dome Mines and Dome Mines. The program planned will involve deep holes to test the ore zone in which commercial values were obtained for length of 340 feet in previous drilling and in addition, several deep holes will be drilled further to the north to seek extensions of the Preston and possibly some of the Dome orebodies.

An important mining company has arranged to finance the drilling program and $50,000 is to be placed in the New Augarita treasury for this purpose.

When last drilling was done the last couple of holes showed good results ina wide carbonate zone which extends for at least 2,000 feet in a northeasterly direction on the property. This carbonate zone parallels a faulting zone which previously had been looked upon as having no great significance so far as ore deposition was concerned, but which is now believed may prove to be the key to development of ore on the New Augarita ground.

Retires as President After 40 Years' Service

Word last week from New Liskeard says that Thomas McCamus, who has been president of the Northern Telephone Company Limited and its predecessor, the Temiskaming Telephone Co., since the organization of the latter in 1905, has relinquished the office of president, and is succeeded as president by F. L. Hutchinson, who has also been associated with the two companies since the organization of the Temiskaming Telephone Co. in 1905. Mr. McCamus is not altogether dropping out of office in the Northern Telephone Co., now becoming chairman of the board of directors. Mr. Hutchinson, the new president, was vice-president of the company for twenty-five years. He will be succeeded as vice-president by W. A. Taylor.

ALWAYS POLITE

After the wedding ceremony the kindly old vicar eyed the shy bridegroom very kindly.

"Well, my friend," he said, "here is your lawful wedded wife."

The young man grew purple and shuffled his feet as he turned to his bride and mumbled:

"Pleased to meet you."—North Bay Nugget.
