TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files

A big Liberal rally was held in the skating rink ten years ago this week when a thousand electors of Cochrane riding gathered to hear Hon. H. C. Elliott, J. A. Bradette, M. P., Dean Kester, Dr. J. A. McInnis, E. L. Longmore, and Nap Caron discuss the issues of the day.

"Prosperity is possible in Canada", Mr. Bradette told the audience "but only through cutting down the enormous profits made by some firms during depression years-not by nationalization of the basic industries."

He (Mr. Bradette) made no promise to the electorate, other than to be the servant of the riding, not its master. He said that he, like his leader, The Rt. Hon. Wm. Lyon McKenzie King, would rather go down to defeat than go around the country making promises that could not be fulfilled.

The annual meeting of the Cochrane Districts Firemen's Association was held in Cochrane in 1935. It was decided that the next year's big field day would be held in Kapuskasing.

Word was received from Toronto, just ten years ago, that J. J. Keles, founder of the Children's Aid had passed on. He was superintendent of the Ontario Department for Neglected Children and Dependent Children for 40 years.

The Canadian Chatauquas, it was announced on Sept. 30th, 1935, would open in Timmins on October 7th. The programme promised to be better than in previous years. Mr. Ralph Elston was secretary of the local committee.

At the fall assizes for the District of Cochrane which opened on Oct. 1st, 1935, six cases, all of interest to Timmins people, were to be heard.

The most important was a charge of manslaughter in the criminal section, against A. C. White of Hoyle, in connection with the shooting of one of three men, whom Mr. White states he found on his premises after he had been told by phone by a neighbor that his garage was being burglarized.

At the same court one of the three young men were to be tried in connection with the alleged robbery. Eighteen schoolboys gathered a crop of 250 bags of potatoes from a plot of ground 18 acres in area. They were the members of Kiwanis' Boys' Potato Club which had the plot on the other side of the river on Frank Feidman's farm.

There is small purpose in stirring up hate against a beaten enemy, and many well-intentioned persons are arguing, more or less directly, that we should forgive and forget. Forgive? Well, perhaps we might forgive some, but certainly not the archcriminals and all who did their unholy will. Forget? That we must not do, for that is what Germany hopes.

Only recently the members of a U. S. Senate subcommittee who visited the battle grounds of Germany, and were given peculiar opportunities to study what remains of German industrial life and to interview German industrialists, returned to make their report. That report was no comforting assurance of continuing peace. Where we have a mental picture of a destroyed and abject Germany, Chairman Harley M. Kilgore of this committee reports careful findings that will not support that view. "Germany in defeat remains a major threat to the peace of the world. Germany today is better prepared to implement her plot for world conquest than she was at the end of World War I."

There has been ample evidence from a vast number of trained witnesses that the destruction of Germany, desperate as it was has not wiped out her industries, that indeed many of them could be quickly restored.

Senator Kilgore in the report of his committee, points out that Germany's potential for war is still great. She has: "1. The world's third strongest industrial economy; 2. Tremendous recuperative power; 3. A world-wide network of economic and political interrelationships penetrating the economies of other nations; 4. The science of aggression perfected by her leading industrialists, militarists, and politicians to reverse the decisions of the battlefield."

In the dying months of 1919 Germany was in the dust. Twenty years later she was ready to challenge the world anew. She is in a better position today to implement her plot for world conquest. This time, unless we maintain our guard, it may not take so long. Germany was ready to have us believe that this was a war waged by Nazi fanatics. But Nazi fanatics did not build her industries, plan her strategy, develop her world contacts. The industrialist and the Junker merely used this straw man to deceive a world, but the plans were theirs.

Robbed of the glamour of desperation the Nazi chieftains stand out for what they were, petty gangsters caught in a web of aggressive duplicity that they could neither understand nor dominate. These are the petty criminals, who must pay for their sins. But there is reason to fear that people may overlook the real criminals, the men who used Nazism, used Germany used their own vast, if debased, gifts to almost defeat a world.

In the Advance of Sept. 30th, 1935 is recorded an account of a quiet but very pretty wedding when Miss Ann Anderson was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Neville Ward of Toronto.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of coral velvet which featured a short train. The accessories and turban matched the dress and she carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

Another local wedding reported in the same issue was that of Miss Hilda Catherine Fuhr and Mr. Leo Laporte who were married in the United Church.

Fifty three holes of play were necessary to decide the winner of the Knox Trophy in the ladies section of the Golf Club in 1935. Mrs. T. Rutherford Langdon of South Porcupine came out on top at the 17th hole, defeating Mrs. J. P. Burke. It was the most closely contested match of the year.

Harold R. Channen, former assessment commissioner of Timmins, passed away very suddenly ten years ago. Although he had been at his job the previous day he had been unwell for the past few weeks. Death was due to diabetes.

A wedding of much interest to South Porcupine residents took place ten years ago when Jean Wilson Alexander was married to George Edward Humphreys in St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Jewish residents of the district were observing the Day of Atonement, which is the most sacred day of the Jewish year, and business hours were closed for the occasion, ten years ago.

Three hundred delegate and guests attended the Temiskaming Firemen's Banquet at New Liskeard in 1935 when New Liskeard excelled itself for the hospitality extended to the visitors and a most enjoyable time was had by all in spite of the weather which was a most unpleasant reminder of winter. A trip, by boat, to Ville Marie had been planned for the afternoon for the ladies but this was cancelled owing to the weather and Mrs. Fred Thompson and Mrs. R. Taylor opened their homes and a social afternoon was spent indoors.

Kirkland Lake Oddfellows were unable to pay a visit here, as scheduled, owing to the condition of the roads at this time of the year, in 1935.

The Men Who Made War

For a great many Canadians the war is rapidly slipping into the limbo of forgotten things. They have lost their more or less direct contact with it. That is undoubtedly a good thing, so long as there remains a background for remembering. We forgot too readily in years gone by, and it all had to be done again with more blood, tears, and sweat. We dare not repeat it a third time.

So it becomes imperative for us to remember that we are the ones who are thinking that we don't want to repeat it. Germany—the Germany that is of importance to us—is still thinking that next time she will do better. If we permit it, perhaps she will.

There is small purpose in stirring up hate against a beaten enemy, and many well-intentioned persons are arguing, more or less directly, that we should forgive and forget. Forgive? Well, perhaps we might forgive some, but certainly not the archcriminals and all who did their unholy will. Forget? That we must not do, for that is what Germany hopes.

be observed by all. A happy time will be spent in games and singing and stories. One hour is planned for strenuous play and will be spent out of doors when the weather permits.

Porcupine Health Unit Co-operating
The Porcupine Health Unit will give periodic medical inspection. A box of First Aid materials will be on hand for minor bruises. A daily health check-up will be given each morning by a teacher. Children must not attend if they have colds.

Appeal for Funds for Equipment
The Nursery School budget covers running expenses but the committee is in need of funds for equipment such as Tinker Toys, medium sized trucks, peg boards, blocks, miniature cars, aeroplanes, dolls, doll's furniture, clothes, and dishes, puzzles, poster paint, brushes, paste, plasticine, crayons, shelves, and cupboards, easels for painting and drawing, oilcloth, Kiddy Kars, Wagons, etc. etc.

The Committee, in time, hopes to provide some outdoor play equipment such as a jungle gym, see-saw, rocker, treading-board, play-box with box, slide door and ladder, and also a sandbox.

The core consisted of units of hard cellular rubber spaced apart by narrow discs of soft cellular neoprene, which gave the completed cable the necessary flexibility. The electrical wiring was laid on the outside of the rubber core, covering it with a number of rubber jackets, the final vulcanization process achieving an electrical cable which would do the job, stand up under stress, and above all, float on the surface of the seas.

The scarcity of cork as a means of securing the desired flotation qualities led to several experiments to acquire buoyancy from other material which would be the equal to cork itself. The development of cellular rubber with millions of non-connecting cells filled with inert gases proved to be the answer to the problem. Much of the development work on this rubber core proceeded from the central laboratories of Dominion Rubber Company Limited of Montreal, who were working on the electrical cable in conjunction with Northern Electric Company Limited, the prime Canadian contractors.

MADE IN CANADA

THE CHALLENGE OF AN EMPTY PLATE*

In most liberated European countries, there is a desperate shortage of meat. As a great food-producing nation, Canada must, can—and will—help to meet the emergency. The job will not be finished at the year's end. Food scarcities in Europe will continue until the next harvest. This year, Europe is relying on Canada for a minimum of 789 million pounds of beef, pork and canned meat. Up to the end of August, only 479 million pounds had been sent.

MEAT RATIONING ADDS TO EVERYONE'S WORK
The producer who slaughters, the retailer who sells, the consumer who buys and eats—they all play a vital part.
AS A CONSUMER, HERE IS HOW YOU CAN CO-OPERATE
1. Try to plan your meat purchases before leaving home by determining what cuts you intend to buy and their approximate weights.
2. Make sure you have enough valid coupons and tokens to cover your proposed purchases by referring to the Consumer Coupon Value Chart and the Coupon and Token Calculator. Copies may be obtained from your Local Ration Board or Ration Branch.
3. Know the dates your "M" coupons become valid.
4. Do not buy more meat than you really need.
5. Avoid shopping at rush hours.
6. Be patient. Remember—your butcher may have inexperienced help.
