

A debt we owe and should gladly pay-

A FRESH START FOR THOSE WHO FOUGHT FOR US

THERE IS AN IMPERATIVE TASK STILL FACING CANADA, and that is the paying of some part of our debt to thousands of men and women who offered their all—the task of REHABILITATION.

Money alone can never fully repay those who fought for our freedom. But money—and what money can buy—will do much to give them the opportunity of a fresh start in life.

Many of those who have come back are so badly handicapped that their earning power has been impaired. These must be given care and hospitalization and training in some form of gainful employment suited to their abilities.

Those, who went into service direct from school, MUST NOT BE forced into immediate competition with others who are thoroughly experienced. They must be given the training and the knowledge required by modern conditions.

Help must be given to others desiring to go into some line of work other than their former vocation. And the wives and children of all who made the supreme sacrifice, must be adequately provided for.

Canada's extensive rehabilitation plans are now in operation. Already thousands returned to civilian life have benefited immensely from the training—the maintenance grants—the social security provisions offered. But this goal can be attained only through the full and hearty support of you and every other Canadian.

A fresh start in life for those who fought for us is a debt we owe and should gladly pay. You can help do it BY MAKING YOUR INVESTMENT IN VICTORY BONDS BIGGER THAN EVER BEFORE.
