

Academy Award Winner, "Wilson" Hits Local Theatre Sunday Nite

Now being shown for the first time at regular prices Darryl F. Zanuck's technicolor production of "Wilson," the sensational film achievement that holds all Hollywood records for the scope and magnificence of its production, opens Sunday Midnight at the Palace Theatre. Awarded six Academy Awards in 1944 for best screen play, color, sound, settings, art direction and editing — "Wilson" has been acclaimed the greatest entertainment the screen has ever known.

More than 12,000 players appeared in the 20th Century-Fox picture which Henry King directed from the screen by Lamar Trotti. Heading the outstanding cast are Alexander Knox, Charles Coburn, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Thomas Mitchell, Ruth Nelson, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Vincent Price, William Eythe and Mary Anderson. "Wilson" introduces 148 actors with speaking roles, and giant mob sequences in which thousands of extras worked in a single sequence.

Seven sound stages were filled simultaneously with carefully authenticated sets for the film which ranges in its location from a football field at Princeton to various rooms of the White House and the Hall of Mirrors in the Palace of Versailles. A record number of sets, 88, were erected: 50 were interior and 38 exterior, with the entire film in technicolor. These sets and their properties had to be far more detailed in their duplication of the famous original scenes than is necessary for black and white photography.

The costumes for "Wilson," which reflect the era in which the clothes for the women of the White House came from Paris when that city was the fashion center of the world, ran into $300,000.

Western Film Comes To Cartier Friday

The color and adventure of Zane Grey's west unfolds in "West of the Pecos," appearing at the Cartier on Friday and Saturday.

Barbara Hale plays Rill, the daughter of a wealthy Chicagoan, Col. Lambeth, played by Thurston Hall. The Colonel's doctor prescribes a change of scenery and a vigorous outdoor life.

Rill, the Colonel and a French maid set out for a ranch west of the Pecos, owned by the Colonel's father, but unused by the family for years. On the journey their coach is held up and one driver killed.

They meet Pecos, played by Robert Mitchum, and he assists the trio over wild and difficult trails. Pecos is being sought by a crooked group of vigilantes.

Finally justice is brought to the unlawful vigilantes by the aid of the Colonel. Pecos survives his encounter with the desperadoes without a scratch and wins the affection of the Colonel's daughter.

This film is aimed to the tastes of Western fans. Plenty of action, rough and swift riding, stagecoach holdups, shootouts and hand-to-hand encounters are interspersed throughout the story.

Bonita Granville, Noah Beery Star In Lively Comedy

Bonita Granville and Noah Beery, Jr. are the co-stars of Universal's "The Beautiful Cheat," scheduled to open today at the Broadway Theatre. Heraldized as one of the season's liveliest comedy dramas, the new picture features Margaret Irving, Sarah Selby and Carol Hughes in a supporting cast which also has Irene Ryan and Milburn Stone.

Beery is seen as the sedate young professor who endeavors to reform a wayward girl. Miss Granville appears as the "untamed" young lady. Actually, however, she pretends the part in her own effort to "reform" the professor. Through the aid of romance, both reformations are said to succeed in the film's surprising climax.

Miss Granville and Miss Hughes add sing in the picture. Charles Barton was the producer-director.

Also showing on the same program today and tomorrow is "Girl of The Limberlost." Featuring Ruth Nelson in a film portraying the tenderness of a girl's dream, the terror of a mother's fears, the yearning of a lover's heart, all vividly bared in this stirring screen version of the world-famous novel!

These two grand features are shown Today and Tomorrow at the Broadway.

MENJOU'S MOUSTACHE

Finally Adolphe Menjou has permitted something to be done about his moustache! He let the RKO Radio make-up experts put false squalor over his real, home-grown lip adament. For a sequence in "Man Alive," his upper lip is draped with the long brush that disguises him as Uncle Barney from Killarney.

He vies with Pat O'Brien and Ellen Drew, his co-stars, and with Rudy Vallee, in comic characterizations of principals involved in a hilarious story of a man supposed to be dead who plays ghost to cure his wife of an infatuation for another man.

EVEN HELD OUT ON CHARLIE

The secret is out — Charley McCarthy's boss, Edgar Bergen, a bachelor for a long, long time, has been wed since last June. The bride, shown with him in Hollywood, Calif., is the lovely Powers model, Frances Weston (also known as Westerman) and not even Charley was in on the secret. They were wed in Mexico.

George Raft Stars With Joan Bennett

Showing at the Cartier on Monday and Tuesday is "Nob Hill" a technicolor film starring George Raft in a made-to-measure part as the tough but suave "Tony Angel". Joan Bennett plays the restless Nob Hill girl on the loose to exciting perfection.

"Spanish Main" Stars Brilliant Trio In Thrill-Laden Film

A spectacular romantic adventure of the seventeenth century Caribbean, ablaze with buccaneers and wily Spaniards and the clash of swords and derring-do, comes to the screen in "The Spanish Main," at the Broadway on Saturday.

Paul Henreid as a Dutch sea-captain turned pirate to avenge Spanish treacherous Lieutenant Da Bilar, and with other pirate captains, to return Francisca to Cartagena, lest the Spaniards wipe out the pirate's island retreat. Van Horn sets off in pursuit of his wife, and learns that Don Juan has double-crossed Anne and her crew and is preparing to hang them all, even though they have brought Francisca back to him. How the resourceful Barracuda outwits the Governor and gets away with his bride forms the stirring and suspenseful climax of the colorful "The Spanish Main." Binnie Barnes plays the swashbuckling Anne Bonny, and John Emery that of Henreid's disloyal aide, with Barton MacLane, J. M. Kerrigan, Fritz Leiber, Nancy Gates, Jack LaRue, Mike Mazurki, and Antonio Moreno in important roles.

The thrilling sea-fight between the galleon and the pirate vessel, the battle in the Cartagena prison between the buccaneers and the Spanish soldiers, Henreid's duel with MacLane, and a dozen other breath-taking episodes enhance the striking romance of the story, while magnificent settings and costumes set a new standard in color films.

"Pride Of Marines" Heads Double Bill

Wednesday and Thursday entertainment at the Cartier features a twin billing of "Pride of the Marines" and "Blonde Comet." The first named picture is fashioned with warmth and tenderness, poignant with memories of unforgettable courage as startling as the truth itself.

John Garfield stars in a role as human and heart-moving as his Mickey Borden of "Four Daughters" fame, as Al Schmid, the blinded hero of Guadalcanal, John Garfield's acting ability has been put to the test and he turns in a performance that is a shining tribute both to himself and to Al

Schmid -- the bravery, tenderness, and courage that is in Al's heart could have been expressed no better.

Filler Broadway LJ

Anne Bonny, a famous pirate of the old Caribbean, is portrayed by Binnie Barnes in "The Spanish Main." RKO Radio's Technicolor romance, Paul Henreid, Maureen O'Hara and Walter Slezak are starred in the film, which was produced by Robert Fellows and directed by Frank Borzage.

The new secretary was recounting her experiences of past employers to the typist.

"My goodness," the typist said after hearing of five different changes in eighteen months, "you have had a lot of bosses!"

"Yes," replied the young secretary, "but I think I'm on the last lap now."
