

Trial By Higher Court Sought In Chimenti Case

Discharged From Hospital, Chimenti Is Able To Give His Evidence

Aurel Latour, Fernand Hotte and Maurice L'Hereux, elected to be tried by a higher court during the three-hour court session here on Tuesday afternoon. The three men are alleged to have attacked and robbed Peter Chimenti of 162 Pine St. South, on Feb. 9, who lost the sum of $380.

The fifty-six year old Chimenti was discharged from hospital on Sunday and related his story of the robbery to the court while seated in a chair on the witness stand. Chimenti said he had been rescued from his bed and after answering the door had been struck on the side of the face. He fell and the next recollection he had was of someone going through his pocket and extracting his money.

After the men had left, Chimenti made his way to the home of a neighbour and told them he had been beaten and robbed. He was then rushed to hospital suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations of the face and body.

Later that same day, police brought in Latour, L'Hereux and Hotte for questioning. Latour was located at his room in a local hotel and when brought to the station, police located a $100 bill a $5 bill and a $2 stuck under the folding of his rubber boot.

L'Hereux and Hotte were found in bed at 19 Preston St. and during the search by the police a $100 bill was found in the watch pocket of a pair of breeches that belonged to Hotte. A wallet containing $165.69 was found under the pillow being used by L'Hereux.

A pair of gloves were also found in the room with stains resembling those of blood. Also produced was a stained hat found near the stove in Chimenti's shack and a stained piece of wood also found in the shack. The stains on both items resemble blood, but as yet no analysis has been made of the marks on the gloves, hat and wood.

During the questioning, Chimenti said he knew Latour from a previous meeting. The man was then led to the prisoner's docket where he was able to identify Latour and Hotte but not L'Hereux.

Leo Larouche of 23 Ronald Ave., was assessed $250 and costs or 60 days as a result of his infraction of W.P.T.B. regulations when he sold a truck to J. Leclair at a cost above the ceiling prices. Larouche claimed his truck had been sold at a cost of $1200, and that the total amount of $1936 had also included the sale of a contract to haul gravel for the Aunor Mine.

At the conclusion of the lengthy hearing which produced much conflicting evidence, the court decided to charge Larouche on the lesser of the two infractions of the ceiling price.

Donald McIntyre pleaded guilty to charges of theft on Oct. 9, when he entered the Holman machine shop, taking a brief case and a stop watch valued at $25., and again on Oct. 10 when he entered the same building to take a typewriter and again on Feb. 13 when he took $350. worth of watches from a trunk belonging to a travelling salesman who was a guest of the hotel employing McIntyre.

John Pezolla who received the typewriter and watches to the value of $25., from McIntyre, also pleaded guilty to the two charges against him.

Leniency was asked for, by their defence, due to the age of both boys (16) and the fact that they had no previous record.

The officer investigating stated that both of the boys had been exceptionally honest with the police and that all the goods except watches, to the value of $190, had been recovered.

McIntyre was placed on parole for a period of two years with his brother-in-law to be appointed as parole officer. The magistrate informed the youngster to be on his best behaviour during that time and told him he must pay off the $190, balance for the watches by earning the money himself. Pezolla in turn was placed on parole for one year and placed on a $100 bond.

The magistrate explained to them the seriousness of any further offence and following his decision said, "Now it's up to the both of you to be good."

Adjournments were given to cases of reported infractions of W.P.T.B. regulations against Ted Boychuck and Pete Shelton, proprietors of a local grocery store and to a case of alleged infractions of the desertion of wife and child maintenance act.

Charges of drunkenness drew fines of $10 and costs for four persons as did a charge of careless driving and disorderly conduct lodged against two other parties.

Four persons were assessed $1 and costs as a result of two charges of illegal parking and two of failing to stop at stop streets.

A charge of theft was withdrawn and a case of drunken driving was dismissed.

Gable's Latest Is Seen At Palace

Clark Gable and Greer Garson together for the first time spell "Adventure!" now at the Palace.

For the first time in three and a half years, Clark Gable trades his Major's uniform for screen garb. As bos'un of the Merchant Marine freighter "Minnie Tolbert," he is seen as a rough, tough sailor. It is the two-fisted virile type of role which has made Gable a box-office champion for ten years, a record unequalled by any other actor in Hollywood.

Miss Garson, too, changes characterization completely. She tosses aside her bustle of "Madame Curie" and "Mrs. Parkington" for Irene-designed Jean Bennett and Edward G. Robinson are co-stars in "Scarlet Street," which comes to the Broadway Theatre on Saturday. The picture is not recommended for juveniles, the management states, but the special program for youngsters which has been arranged for Saturday morning, definitely is.

clothes of today. As Emily, pretty but strait-laced librarian who discovers she has a temper to match her red hair when she meets Gable, the actress has a chance to display her talents not only for the emotional roles which have brought her an Academy Award, but the sophisticated comedy which made her a favourite of the London stage.

Stellar support for the spectacular duo is provided by Joan Blondell as the flip and fast-talking roommate of Miss Garson. Another Academy Award winner in the cast is Thomas Mitchell as Mudgein, "the man who loses his soul." Also in the cast are Tom Tully, John Qualen, Richard Haydn.

"California Joe" Is Cartier Weekender

"California Joe," the newest of the "Red" Barry series, presents Barry as a Union army officer, at the Palace this Thursday and Saturday. He is detached for intelligence work in an effort to save California for the North.

It packs plenty of action in good western style, together with comedy drama, and a plot of substance. Barry his pal Wally Vernon, and Carey Frost pose as California miners with Barry using the title name. They find a Confederate, who is even a traitor to his adopted South, and an ex-governor of California plotting to seize California for an Empire of the Pacific, and for the South.

Discovering the leak in the telegraph lines, which enables the ex-governor to send confusing orders to Union garrisons in the name of a high officer, they patch it up with some fast gunplay, send out Plan "D" orders signed Abraham Lincoln and arrest any of the conspirators left alive after the gunfight.

Barry's proving the fact that her brother was a traitor, even to her beloved South, makes Helen Talbot realize the enormity of the crime. She handles the role capably. Twinkle Watts has some very good moments as the daughter of the slain telegraph operator.

Added to the program is Harry Owens and his Royal Hawaiians in "Waikiki Melody" and Episode No. 4 of "The Tiger Woman" serial, and Fox movie news.

Unusual Film Comes To Broadway

It wouldn't be Hollywood if the unusual weren't part of every day living. There's a picture coming to the Broadway Theatre, Saturday with more contradictory and odd incidents than a commission meeting.

It's the Universal release, "Scarlet Street," and it co-stars Edward G. Robinson and Joan Bennett.

As far as contradictions go, it might be noted that gentle Edward G., memorable as the meanest man in town in "Little Caesar," here has the most sympathetic role of his career, yet doesn't get the girl in the end.

Georgious Jean Bennett, who has usually been able to snag any man she wanted on the screen—or off, is a meanie of the first water, living up to the original title of the French success, "La Chienne" upon which the film is based.

Duryea is the only one of the cast who lives up to advance notices. He's as cold-blooded and hard-boiled as the most avid detective story reader could wish.

Yvonne de Carlo In "Frontier Gal"

With a western framework, "Frontier Gal" spins a romantic tale embellished with incidental music, coming to the Cartier Monday and Tuesday. The picture is an ideal showcase for Yvonne De Carlo since it makes available to the new Universal star every chance to show off her talents and physical properties.

Let it be said to the gal's credit that she makes the most of every chance in this lusty account of love and violence in the West of the 1890's. In the current exhibit Miss De Carlo is a far more competent performer than she was in her first film, "Salome Where She Danced."

The picture, which never wants for excitement and action, has ingredients

Merle Oberon Heads Cartier Double Bill

Merle Oberon and Charles Korvin play convincing roles in "This Love of Ours" which comes to the Cartier next Wednesday and Thursday.

It is a film in which women will take special delight. Many of the situations which have long been the stand-bys of the emotional drama have been exercised for all their worth to make the picture heart-stirring entertainment.

The film recounts how unjustified jealousy on the part of a doctor breaks up his marriage to a woman who worked as an entertainer. In keeping with the screen tradition, the husband won't listen to an explanation. He abandons his wife, taking with him their little daughter, whom he brings up to believe that her mother is dead. Chance reunites husband and wife after she has had years of tough going and heartache. The daughter, told that the woman is her stepmother, turns against her, regarding her in the light of an intruder.

In the second feature of the program are seen Maxie Rosenbloom, Billy Gilbert and Shemp Howard in a comedy-drama of a cab-driver who is sent to prison when a diamond necklace is found in his cab.

tion to fill these chairs with '39ers for several meetings to come.

Comrades Frank MacDowell and Maurice Williams addressed the meeting at length on behalf of the Porcupine Housing Committee, endorsing the low rental buildings offered to veterans or their dependants by Wartime Housing Ltd. They stressed that the houses built by Wartime Housing Ltd., in other sections of the country are well constructed, modern homes; that veterans in search of living accommodation should support the plan to have as many of these homes erected in the Porcupine as needed, by filling in their applications at the Town Hall.

Wartime Housing, Ltd. has been well advertised and is still in the news. As above comrades pointed out: There is no financial or any other obligation entailed by filling out an application form, and veterans cannot afford to ignore the low rent values offered by Wartime Housing Ltd. while other real estate values in this district remain at their present abnormally high peaks.

Firemen Receive Two Weekend Fire Alarms

A single alarm on Friday, March 1 and two alarms on Saturday, March 2, were answered by the local fire department over the weekend.

On Friday the department were summoned to 6 Messines Ave., to attend to an overflowing oil burner and on Saturday, were summoned to 166 Balsam St. North and 85 Fourth Ave., to extinguish chimney fires. There was no damage caused through any of the fires.

The young man was discussing his love affair with a sympathetic friend. "You say she partially returned your affections?" asked the friend. "Yes; she sent back all the letters but kept the jewellery."

We have to have steel in our daily lives, as only a few, like the Down East sea captain, are tough enough to shave by applying a lighted candle.

Among his friends are a prize-fighter, his manager and his trainer. The manager writes a fictionalized version of a finding of the necklace. Thereupon the real thieves, believing he knows the whereabouts of the necklace, attack him and his friends. The thieves are eventually trapped, sent to prison, and the innocent cab-driver released.

The Cold Storage Act 1907 provides, and the Company has signed a contract with the Federal Government whereby it will receive a subsidy not to exceed $56,496.25 (30% of cost)
