Miner's Club Will Open Up Next Week

Will Provide Recreation Rooms And Lounge For Membership

The Miners' Club, perhaps the only club of its kind in the town of Timmins, is expected to open its doors for membership by the end of this week.

The club rooms, situated opposite the local Fire Hall, have been designed to hold a billiard and ping-pong table, a lunch counter with space left for the inclusion of dart boards and room for the playing of any games the members may wish to enjoy.

To the rear of the building is a second room that is being made over into a shooting gallery and in time a third room will become the lounge and reading room, with the possibility of including a regular library, also in the offering.

Work on the rooms has been going on for the past three weeks under the supervision of Vern Taylor and Pete Hackett who were asked by interested parties to organize the club. At the present time the officers of the new organization are Pete Hackett, president, and Vern Taylor, secretary-treasurer, with Ron Lachapelle and C. B. Taylor as directors.

Membership has not been limited to miners alone and anyone wishing to join the club may do so.

A monthly membership fee is to be paid, it was stated.

For their first act as a club, an intermediate softball team is to be sponsored with plans also to be made for the sponsoring of a junior hockey club during the next hockey season.

Notes To You

All is confusion.

Last week all was normal. Pages one to eight went to press in their accustomed order, with no more than the usual wailing and gnashing of dentures. This week, we don't know where we are. The editorial columns have vanished from page four, and when last seen were heading up front somewhere.

The sports page has taken a jump, too, and at time of writing there's no telling where this column will end up. Or why.

This may explain why the Jonah who poses as the editor of this sheet has not been himself. The silly smirk which creased his face each morning has disappeared, and when he leaves the office at night, we find his typewriter cover is wet with tears.

But on questioning, it seems his grief has nothing to do with conditions around this office, sad as they are. No, it is something he saw in The Daily Press that's bothering him. Seems someone developed a brain fission and wrote that paper to say, among other things, that The Advance was not only a Conservative paper, but a snob.

Not since Bruce Magnusson wrote in to call him a robot of the vested interests, has his pride been so sorely wounded.

This column would be grateful, therefore, if one of our more truthful readers would write in (to either paper) to say that the poor soul is really a low-lifer and a liberal. Then perhaps he will return to being his normal self -- somewhere in between the two.

jfw

Perhaps it would help if we were all to consider someone's else's troubles for a change. Take for instance the chap who ended up in police court on Tuesday on a charge of being drunk while in charge of a horse. He probably wishes he had heeded the ancient proverb -- you can lead a horse to water, but let it do the drinking.

jfw

Silly isn't it, what troubles can be caused by a mere word, especially when it isn't properly spelled. A good case in point was that of our Uncle Shadrack, whose career as a real estate agent was nipped in the bud by a typographical error. Intending to insert an advertisement addressed to house-hunters, he worded it house-haunters, and was frightened to death by the large number of ghosts who answered the advertisement.

Smart Girls Always Carry Paradol in their Handbags

They know that Paradol will relieve them quickly of headaches, and other discomforts, as well as help to check colds.

One girl writes:—"Until I used Paradol every month I suffered almost unbearable pains. It is the most quickly effective relief I have ever used and there is no disagreeable after effect."

Minister Is Head Of Toronto Conference

Rev. W. M. Mustard of the First United Church in Timmins was elected president of the Toronto Conference of the United Church for the ensuing year during a meeting in that city last week.

On only two occasions in the past 20 years has a minister of the north occupied this position. Dr. R. S. Laidlaw of Iroquois Falls was elected president in 1937 and in 1939 Rev. M. N. Omond of North Bay became president.

The retiring president at the present time is Rev. M. R. Sanderson of North Parkdale United Church in Toronto.
