

Broadway Holds Over "The Big Sleep"

Fans of Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall have got today and Friday to see their favorite stars in "The Big Sleep," at the Broadway Theatre.

The film tells the story of a pathological daughter of a wealthy retired General, who gets herself involved in the murderous activities of a big time gambling racketeer. In turn, she is black-mailed by a small time chisler trying to cash in on the big shot's work.

Her sister, a kind of predatory witch herself, if need be, pretty much knows the facts of life and the fact about her sister, and loyalty forces her to protect her. Into this steps Phil Marlowe, private dick, who knows a thing or two himself and what he doesn't know he can find out.

In spite of murders, double dealing and double crossing, Marlowe untangles the mystery and tangles neatly with the sister.

That Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall are made for each other is something more than a screen topic. That they both give the best performances of their career can be credited to the screen play by William Faulkner, Leigh Brackett and Jules Furthman.

There are also a host of characters each of whom rates a great big "A" for performance, outstanding among them are John Ridgely, Martha Vickers, (watch this combination of beauty and talent), Charles Waldron, Dorothy Malone, Elisha Cook, Jr., Peggy Knudsen, and Joy Barlowe in a hilarious few moments as a taxi-cab driver.

DOROTHY MALONE, winsome young Irish beauty, has an important role in "The Big Sleep," starring Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall, which has been held over for today and Friday at the Broadway Theatre.

Timmins Stricter Than Other Towns, Youth Declares

"I have been in quite a few Canadian cities and I have to come home to run into anything like this," Cpl. H. Hoff of the R.C.A.F., declared before Magistrate S. Atkinson in Police Court on Tuesday afternoon. He was one of five lads charged with disturbing the peace on Third Avenue one evening last week.

The group of five had been yelling and "making fools of themselves," according to the evidence of the constable responsible for laying the charge.

Cpl. Hoff claimed that they had been returning from a boxing match and having a little fun. They had passed another constable who was having a bottle of milk in a Third Avenue cigar store, and that officer had seen nothing exceptional in their behavior, the Corporal claimed.

On hearing the evidence the Magistrate granted the plea of not guilty. One of the lads involved had paid a fine of $5 and costs, but after the magistrate had heard evidence in the second case, he was given his money back.

house for the McIntyre mine, with his kit bag, while the father was at a movie. The boy had not returned, and had been picked up in North Bay and brought back to Timmins, where he had signed a statement, part of which is quoted above.

The case was remanded until next week, when the prosecuting attorney stated he wanted to check up to see if there was any previous record of the accused.

"Running A Dive" Court Finds Hands Down Three-Month Sentence

"I am satisfied that they were running a dive," stated Magistrate E. Atkinson in police court on Tuesday, after hearing lengthy evidence against George and Mary Vasilash, 267 Elm St. North, charged with "keeping for sale."

Exhibits in the case reached an interesting total of 42 pints of beer, six bottles of wine, two bottles of scotch a bottle of sloe gin and a bottle of gin. All the liquor involved was purchased legally and was covered by permits submitted to the court.

Chief subject of controversy was the status of a number of people who had visited the Vasilash home between Aug. 30 and Sept. 5. According to the defence they were cousins and close friends of the accused.

"The fact that these friends are not here to assist these people and to give evidence is, I think, of importance," declared S. A. Caldwell, presenting the case for the Crown.

Constables who had kept the residence under observation testified to a number of people entering the place, and leaving in various degrees of intoxication. Through an open window they had heard a man offer to buy drinks, and a woman's voice saying "Thank you, sir."

The thanks in question had been for the offer of a cigarette, Mrs. Vasilash testified. She denied that anyone had offered to buy drinks.

George Vasilash, saying that he earned $10 and $11 daily at the Hollinger, said the liquor had been purchased for the entertainment of his friends and some visiting cousins, and with the thought of his coming birthday in mind.

He said the fact that Norman Burrows, said to be a driver of a Windsor cab, had brought a number of people to the house, could be explained by the fact that Burrows was a close friend of his and owned his cab, and that he wished to give him any business he could. His cousins had been staying in a local hotel and not knowing their way around Timmins, had made use of the cab on a number of occasions.

"Right of Way" Decides Court Case

Admitting that the driver of the other car involved had the right of way, although both cars had arrived at the intersection at the same time, C. A. Remus paid $10 and costs in police court on Tuesday.

Both cars had been travelling at the same speed of 20-25 m.p.h., it was established, and both had arrived at the corner of Cedar and Seventh Ave., at the same time.

Mr. Remus had applied his brakes on seeing the other car, but hit the car on the side. The other driver had not seen any car approaching and had not applied his brakes until after the accident had happened.

Comedy Hit Comes To Broadway

According to all reports, "Our Hearts Were Growing Up," which starts on Saturday at the Broadway theatre, is even better and brighter than the smash film hit, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Gail Russell and Diana Lynn continue to please audiences with the same type of double confusion and mirthful mix-ups which made their reputations in their earlier comedy roles.

Helping out with the fun are Brian Donlevy and William Demarest, who portray a couple of bottleggers who get involved in the adventures of Emily and Cornelia, the two young-and-gay girls. Against the background of a Harvest-Princeton football game and New York's Greenwich Village, the girls manage to involve themselves in a series of hilarious situations.

Music and Comedy In Cartier Western

Music, action and comedy have their place in "Gangsters of the Frontier," coming to the Cartier Theatre for Friday and Saturday of this week, in an unusual combination in Westerns starring Tex Ritter and Dave O'Brien.

With Ritter handling the musical assignment, O'Brien supplying most of the action, and Guy Wilkerson, who is featured with them in the series, doing the comedy, the trio, handled as the "Texas Rangers," present action pictures fans with a rare treat.

The story deals with the Rangers cleaning out a pioneer territory infest by outlaws who use a pair of six-guns as symbols of a peace they do not want to keep. The guns are stolen from one of the Rangers and an outbreak of lawlessness occurs until the Rangers recover the weapons.

Added to the program is "Follow that Blonde," with Leon Errol, and Chapter 7 of the "Jungle Queen" a serial.

Ginger Rogers In "Heartbeat" Now At Palace

A comedy-romance tailored for Ginger Rogers is "Heartbeat," which presents the star in a beautiful romance with a background of complex comedy situations in the gay locale of sophisticated Paris. The picture is playing today, Friday and Saturday at the Palace Theatre.

Ginger plays a little French girl Arlette, seeking a job and a husband. Answering a newspaper ad for a job, she is greeted at the door of a respectable looking home by the stately Professor Aristed, really head of a school for pick-pockets.

He impresses Arlette to "lift" the diamond stickpin of an Ambassador. Following her in the attempt, the Ambassador takes Arlette to his home, where he dresses her in style and has her appear at the lavish Embassy ball that evening, where she learns she is to dance with a young man whose watch she must steal.

From this point on the affair races through many unique complications to a highly romantic climax.

Jean Pierre Aumont is seen as Ginger's intended victim, a young French diplomat. Adolphe Menjou gets in his left work as the suave Ambassador who plans the heroine's fling in high life.

Ann Sheridan Comes To Cartier

Bright names such as those of Ann Sheridan, Dennis Morgan, Alexis Smith, and Jack Carson place patrons in a receptive mood for "One More Tomorrow," one of two features showing at the Cartier theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

This new screen version of the stage play, "Animal Kingdom," is the story of a wealthy playboy who acquires social consciousness when he falls in love with a member of the staff of a tottering liberal magazine, which he immediately proceeds to place on a sound financial basis.

When the gal turns him down, the guy allows himself to be hooked by a socialite interested solely in his money. The marriage proves a fiasco, matters being made worse by the liberal chick's discovery that she's been in love with the chump all along. A divorce is in the offing at the finals and happiness awaits the two liberals.

The second film on the program, "Fear," stars Warren Williams, Peter Cookson, James Cardwell and Lee "Lasses" White, in a story of a meek student who kills a college professor who, in league with the owner of a pawnshop, has been swindling him.

Wanted to Join Navy Says Lad Picked Up In North Bay

"I did not really take it, I was borrowing it until I joined the Navy, and was going to return them," was the explanation given for taking a suit and pants from his father's home, by Wilfred St. James, facing a charge of theft in police court on Tuesday.

In giving evidence the father of the accused said that his son had left the

The Minister of Finance announces A NEW BOND ISSUE FOR PEACETIME SAVINGS

Canadians are thrifty people. Their record in war financing will stand for many years to come.

Through six years, millions saved and invested in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates in a way no one thought possible. Many thousands learned the convenience of regular, systematic saving, whether in small monthly amounts or by larger cash investment. As a result they have accumulated substantial personal reserves with all that means in increased future security and satisfaction.

Because suggestions and requests have come to me from all parts of the country that facilities for this kind of saving be continued in peacetime, the Canada Savings Bond has been created.

The issue of War Savings Certificates and Stamps to the general public will be discontinued on September 30th, and final instalments on the last Victory Bond issue will have been completed in the near future. Canada Savings Bonds, therefore, will provide an opportune means for citizens to carry on their regular savings habits without interruption.

The general public should note that this time there will be fewer salesmen than in the case of Victory Bonds. Although the new Canada Savings Bonds will be sold through banks, authorized investment dealers, stock brokers and trust or loan companies, these agencies will not be able to approach every individual Canadian. This means that for the most part it will be left to Canadians to assume the responsibility for their own purchases of Canada Savings Bonds. If they wish to grasp this opportunity, they should act for themselves without delay.

Canada Savings Bonds are designed to be the finest investment available to the public today. I recommend them to you as a safe, profitable and convenient investment for personal savings.

I now announce the terms of the new Canada Savings Bonds, which will be offered commencing October 15th.

... Features of the new Canada Savings Bonds

Interest 2 1/2% by annual coupon. Purchase price 100%. Accrued interest will be charged if payment is made after November 15th. Issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, and $1000.
