

Notes To You

"Showman Here Seeking Talent," is, we note, the heading given to a news story of Prof. Richards, the magician, a recent visitor to Timmins. Seems too bad that the professor had to visit Timmins at this particular time—when our Mr. Magnuson is busy putting on his act in Toronto.

Another time, perhaps?

We are far from qualifying as a critic of the drama, and in our admiration for Cary Grant would be the last to find fault with any film in which he appeared. We should like to draw attention, however, to something in the film "Night and Day", which recently graced the Palace screen.

It concerns Cary's pyjamas. There is nothing wrong with the pyjamas, as such, providing you have no objection to canary yellow garments with cut-glass bottoms. When first seen wearing them Mr. Grant is busy portraying a soldier lying wounded in a hospital in France, during the first World War.

All of which is okay, if that's the way you like your fighting. But Mr. Grant has either managed to find a better-wearing pair of pyjamas than is usually found in army hospitals, or he has a one-track mind in his choice of such garments. Eight years later, following an accident in which he falls off a horse, Mr. Grant again assumes the horizontal, and again appears in the canary-colored delightful, complete with the cut-glass bottoms.

As we've admitted, we don't know where Cary picked up the pyjamas—but we would like you to keep them in mind, now that the Christmas season is staggering towards us.

We could use a pair.

An all-too-familiar chord was struck when we read the other day of the robbery of some jewels from St. James Palace. It now appears that the chap who had responsibility for caring for the jewels had not been too careless—he had been too careful. They were put away so carefully that he had been unable to find them for two days.

We have much the same trouble, at our house.
An ardent individualist myself, we are glad to note that there are some kindred spirits at the local radio station—chaps with sufficient get-up-and-go in them to ignore occasionally the carefully prepared script, and challenge the public with something different.

The other day, for example, the announcer told his unseen audience that they would next hear Nelson Eddy, singing "Rose Marie." With a fine display of spirit, the chap at the turntable put on a recording of a soprano solo.

"Must be Rose Marie singing Nelson Eddy," we commented to the wife, falling off our chair in the exuberance of our most excellent wit.

She didn't get it.
In case you are wondering just what's behind our continued refusal to run for mayor, we'll tell you why such a thing can never be, so long as the present incumbent is in office. It's by way of being a bilateral agreement with Mayor J. E. Brunette and ourselves. He has agreed not to write a column; we've agreed not to run for mayor.

So until we're sure that it's the Mayor who writes that "Wilbur" nonsense, that's how it's got to be.

Gold bullion valued at $49,221,340 was produced by Ontario's gold mines during the first nine months of 1946. The industry milled 5,387,910 tons of ore which contained 1,314,636 ounces of gold and 214,848 ounces of silver. These figures show an increase of 19.29% in tonnage milled, 16.90% in gold recovery, 10.77% in silver recovery, and 13.53% in value over the comparable period of 1945.

The gold Bulletin by the Ontario Department of Mines covers a mine by mine account of production for the first nine months of the year as well as a camp by camp review of production for the month of September. During this latter period the gold mines treated 575,098 tons of ore, and recovered 146,883 ounces of gold and 29,241 ounces of silver, valued at $5,165,102.

The daily average statistics shows that the grade of ore during September rose to $8.89 from a low of $8.59 in July and $8.77 in August. However the daily average tonnage handled by the mills at 19,170 was the lowest reported since January of the current year. Recovery of gold at 4.95 ounces per day was slightly higher than during August while silver recovery at 975 ounces was a new record for the year. The daily average value of $172.10 was better than that for August but was lower than the previous months of the year.

year an all-time record number of mining claims filed with the mining records was reported. Altogether 17,497 mining claims have been filed during the first nine months. This exceeds the all-time annual record established in 1936 of 17,280 mining claims.

SCHUMACHER Choir's Hallowe'en Tea Much Enjoyed

The Trinity United Church choir, held its annual Hallowe'en tea in the church hall Saturday afternoon. The hall was nicely decorated with Hallowe'en decorations. The assistants all wore yellow and black tea aprons.

Mrs. Dan Fraser and Mrs. James Prentice convened; Miss Gertrude Bristow greeted the guests. The large tea table was very attractive with lovely covers, yellow and black lighted candles in silver holders. The centerpiece on the table was a large crystal bowl filled with fruit. Mrs. James Huxley and Mrs. P. J. Gilbert poured tea. The small tea tables were nicely arranged.

Miss Uriel MacMillan was table convener and assisting at the tea tables were Mrs. Walter Rowe, Miss Jean Fraser, Miss Norma Killens, Miss Ethel Leck.

The bake table had a large selection of delicious cakes for sale, supervised by Mrs. George Shippam and Mrs. Calverley. The kitchen conveners were Mrs. James Izatt, Mrs. Alex Mair and Mrs. Jack Morris. The day being fine a very large number attended and enjoyed afternoon tea.
