Rev. James Morris New Rector At St. Paul's Church

On Sunday St. Paul's Anglican Church celebrated its anniversary. His Lordship, the Bishop of Moosonee, officiated at the morning service, assisted by the Rev. E. A. McKittrick, who is visiting with his son, Dr. E. A. J. McKittrick.

His Lordship announced to the congregation that a successor to Rev. John Ford, — who recently left to become Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Cochrane — had been appointed by the Vestry of the Church.

Rev. James Morris, of Chapleau, has accepted the offer of South Porcupine parish and will take up his duties here early in January. Until then Rev. E. McKittrick has consented to conduct morning and evening services in St. Paul's each Sunday.

The new rector is a young man, and has a wonderful record of work in his former parish. As Chapleau has recently been taken out of the diocese of Moosonee, the newly appointed rector's decision to accept St. Paul's charge was that he might continue to serve in this Northern Diocese of Moosonee.

During the morning service the Bishop performed the ceremony of dedication of two beautiful brass candlesticks. They are a gift to the church in memory of Maxwell Smith, who did much for St. Paul's during the lifetime of the present building, and also its predecessor.

Prior to the ceremony his Lordship spoke of the aptitude of the form of gift. The man to whose memory the candlesticks were given was a light to his church and community.

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father who is in Heaven" was the concluding remark before the inscription on the candlesticks was read: "To honour the memory of Maxwell Smith who died September 30th 1946. Given by Gordon E. Huff, O.B.E., M.M., officer commanding the Canadian Fire Fighting Corps."

These candlesticks were on the altar of a Church in England and came through the blitz, and were brought to Canada by Col. Huff.
