NOCTURNE IN WHITE

Come and behold the moon in full flower. As it scatters its pollen on valley and sea, Dreaming indoors at this hour of magic, Confines its glory for you and for me, So come let us walk o'er the snow-drifted lea.

Moonlight has silvered the path through the meadow, Even the trees are mother-of-pearled, Let it be more than a dream that your shadow, Moves beside mine to the rim of the world, So come let us walk to the rim of the world.
