Against Law to Keep What you find Crown Attorney States

For not returning a Bulova wrist-watch which he found after a scuffle on Pine street on the night of March 2, George Pera was put on $50 bond to keep the peace for one year by Magistrate Atkinson with the admonishment "you made no effort to return the watch and denied having it when the police first questioned you."

The accused was picked up on March 6 by local police, denied having the watch but on the way to the police station admitted having it in his room. He produced a witness who stated he had seen the accused pick the watch up off the street on March 2nd and ask bystanders if any of them had lost it.

Crown attorney S. A. Cladwick, K.C., asked the accused why he didn't take the watch to the police station or look in the classified ads of the newspaper to see if anyone was looking for the watch. Adding that if a person keeps what he finds without attempting to return it the finder breaks the law.

A MILLION MEDALS IN THE MAKING

Over one hundred ex-servicemen are busily engaged at the Royal Mint in Ottawa, turning out the thousands of war medals which will eventually be distributed to all former servicemen and women with the proper qualifications. In addition to the one million Canadian Volunteer Service Medals on order, over half a million of the Campaign Stars are to be struck. This gigantic task will take some considerable time to complete and officials at National Defence Headquarters emphasize that it will be quite some time before any distribution can commence. Shown above is a section of the main work shop at the Mint, where the "Gongs" are taking shape at the hands of the veterans. (Canadian Army Photo)

"Bert" Hornby, who was reported missing on January 28, 1944 and later presumed dead. ### Mayor Brunette Will Officiate At Teen Town Inauguration

Mayor J. E. Brunette will officiate at the inauguration of the Teen Town Mayor and council this Friday at the Hollinger Hall.

The Teen Town executive has been modelled after the local municipal government and it is hoped that the teenage executive will not attend local vice and encouragement from the local council meetings but will receive advice from them.

Any teen-agers who are not yet members of Teen Town are cordially invited to attend Friday night. A special programme is planned for the evening after the inauguration ceremony.

Kiwanis Observe St. Patrick's Day

The Irish members of the Timmins Kiwanis were happy and proud at the weekly luncheon on Monday at the Empire hotel. And so were all the other members, for that matter.

Monday was the Seventeenth of March, and the weekly luncheon had been planned as a "St. Patrick's Day" event. It was a great success. The programme was a delightful one, with characteristic Irish music, Irish wit and humour, and that wistful, serious tone that is also characteristically Irish.

Of course, there were Irish decorations. The tables were artistically adorned with green ribbons. "The light of other days," in the form of green candles in potato holders, added to the colour of the occasion. Irish serviettes were in evidence. At the head table was a model of an Irish pig all befreckled with green shamrocks, and with a green ribbon around his mouth and a neck.

Community singing was led by about fifteen Irish members who formed a gallant chorus around the piano, where even "Scotty" Wilson was (he said so himself) the Irish Secretary for the day.

Delightful Irish songs were sung by Mrs. Bill Roberts, with Geo. A. Jenkins playing the piano accompaniment, and the gathering all joining lustily in the choruses. These pleasing songs, pleasingly presented, included: "Come Back to Erin," "Did Your Mother Come from Ireland?" and "The Dear, Little Shamrock."

Kiwanian Karl Eyre introduced Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Jenkins, and Kiwanian W. Doran extended the thanks of the club to them for their musical talent.

YMCA Secretary Secured For Porcupine District

The services of a full-time certified Y secretary have been secured and he will arrive in Timmins in the near future to take over the organization of the YMCA. The campaign for funds was still continuing with over $7,000 collected to date, the Y's Men were informed at their regular dinner meeting in the International Hotel on Monday.

Seven guests in addition to District Governor Howard Moyer of Kirkland Lake were present at the meeting. They were Glen Cove, Art Duggan, Leo Finchen, David Wiley, Fred Gibbons, Ely Steinberg, Bill Harrison, Henry Babin, Ted Watt and Raoul Tremblay.

The guest speaker of the evening was District Governor Howard Moyer, who gave an extremely enlightening address on "Y'sdom." He gave a brief resume of the high type of personalities who organized and the ones who now control the destinies of the Y's Mens Club.

He also spoke briefly of the excellent relations that existed at the international conventions, and urged that the local club send as many members as possible — in addition to the delegate — to the Y's Mens International Convention to be held this fall in Toledo, Ohio.

He also mentioned that the Chinese members of Y's Mens Clubs had voted to allow Japanese members to join and also urging that the reformation of Y's Mens Clubs be allowed in Japan, adding that permission had already been granted by General MacArthur. Gordon Moon, manager of the Rangers, said the hockey team sponsored by the club in the Midget Hockey League, had defeated Canadians for the championship.

A report was made on the successful election held by the Y Teen Town and the excellent possibilities the new executive seemed capable of. Four Y's Men were appointed to attend the regular Teen Town meeting in the Hollinger Hall.

Three members were inducted into the club in an impressive ceremony Cochrane Cunningham, John Sykes and Art Carveth.

Acting Superintendent Children's Aid Society Submits Resignation

On March 12 Mr. A. G. Carson, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society for the past 1 year, handed in his resignation and Mrs. Delahunt, assistant superintendent, assumed the duties of acting superintendent.

Mrs. Delahunt has been with the Society for nearly three years, starting on April 1st, 1944 at the present offices in the Municipal Building.

Speaking of her work Mrs. Delahunt said she enjoyed it immensely and found it extremely interesting.

Britain's Policewomen

An important factor in the widespread network of social welfare work in Britain today is the Women's Police Force. As with so many other things in Britain, the Women's Police Force originated in an unofficial and voluntary effort. They specialise in protective and disciplinary work among children and adolescents, and trained to deal with each problem in the light of individual circumstances, are authorised to use their personal discretion as much as their official powers. This discretion can be particularly valuable in dealing with children and adolescents. It has been found that both child and adolescent delinquents respond far more readily to handling by women police than by men, particularly in the case of young girls. Frequently, a policewoman will get in touch with a girl's parents, and often does much to re-establish in a happy and satisfactory home life, a girl who may have been adrift in bad company.

Royal Family Visits Eshowe

The Royal Family were in the Zululand capital of Eshowe yesterday and they were given a rousing Zulu welcome. Three hundred warriors wrapped in leopard skins and wearing ostrich plumes in their hair charged madly at the feet of the King and queen and two princesses. The terrifying performance was their way of saying welcome to South Africa.

Buy Kiwanis Easter Seals Help Crippled Children

Easter Seal Campaign For Crippled Children

For the first time in Ontario a sale of Easter seals will be held commencing March 20 to raise funds for the work of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Through this two-week sale the Society hopes to raise proceeds for expansion of its work as well as a means of publicizing its numerous activities.

Many of the 90 crippled children of the Porcupine district which were examined and prescribed for at the Kiwanis Crippled Children's Clinic last December will be among those sent to Toronto for specialist treatment in the hope that the youngsters will be able to regain the use of their limbs.

Organized to help crippled children regardless of their race, color or creed, the Society is celebrating its 25th anniversary, November 28, 1922 was the date when representatives of a number of service clubs met in Windsor and formed the Society. In the past fifteen years alone it has cared for 49,432 physically handicapped children.

"The Society discovers handicapped and afflicted youngsters," says R.W. Hopper, executive director, "transports them to hospitals, arranges treatment and appliances and helps them to enjoy a more normal life."

Despite advances in both prevention and treatment of crippling diseases, there are 15,000 disabled children in the Province. "But many, if they received proper care and treatment in early stages, would be spared a great deal of suffering and their chances of recovery would be greatly enhanced," states Mr. Hopper. Parents of average means have found:

that the care of a crippled child is expensive. In many cases they have lost homes or farms to provide treatment or, more frequently, delay treatment of the ailment until it is too late.

The Society has tried to improve conditions by providing a nursing service and a camp program. There are now five nurses working in 28 countries and two camps providing three weeks holidays for 336 children. It is realized, however, that the nurses are constantly overworked, and that the accommodation at the camps should be doubled.

A great step forward will be made when the $100,000 is raised. Services will be extended, especially in the Eastern and Northern sections of the Province. For the first time in Canada a training school for spastic children will be opened. Later a separate school of sufficient size will be constructed to serve the whole Province, with an employment and vocational guidance staff an important part of school.

Rotary Clubs of the Province have taken the lead in providing care for crippled children, as annual reports of the Society indicate. They were the first of the service clubs in this field of service. This work has not been an exclusive Rotary service, however, nor has the Society been exclusively associated with any one club or organization. Other service clubs prominently identified with this work are the Lions, Kiwanis and Kinsmen clubs. Two other organizations that give major attention to this work are the Ancient Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, commonly called the Shrine, and the Junior Red Cross.
