Spring Styles Featured by Olive Thomson and Helen Style Shoppe Portray Mi-lady as Demure, Dreamy and Romantic

That lovely scintillating breath of Spring you smelled last night at the Victory theatre carried a promise of gaiety, a touch of romance, and an entirely new look which was reminiscent of bygone days.

To prove it, a parade of Easter fashions was shown by the Olive Thomson Shoppe and Helen's Style Shoppe that would have done credit to the fashion marts of Paris and New York.

Mrs. Os Carter, president of the Kinnette Club welcomed the impressively large gathering and extended thanks to both Mrs. Thomson and Mrs. Braeken for making the showing possible. She also introduced Mrs. Fred Miller who very capably and wittingly handed her duties as commentator.

Modified dolman sleeves were seen in some of the dresses and some also featured "the built up above the waistline" by sashes or cummerbunds.

Suits perhaps the basis of most spring wardrobes, are more feminine. The soft dressmaker suit appears to be foremost. With a dandified air, the Edwardian influence puts rows of buttons on double breasted suits with small neat collars. There was also several bolero suits in the collection and there was a good assortment of "throw coats" and sophisticated shorties.

Afternoon cocktail, dinner and evening dresses are all dressed up. They are draped, bustled, hobbie and peg-topped.

In evening clothes, lace appears to be the prime favorite often combined with other materials.

The new silk prints featured geometrical designs, fruits and large bouquets of flowers, rich and glowing.

In the final scene Vivian Pierce was featured as the bride, wearing a gorgeous gown of white satin with yoke of nylon and a bertha of French lace caught with pearls and several lace petticoats showing. Jean McChesney than last, but more subtly blended tones. Navy appeared to vie with gray tones for first place. Among the comparatively few bright colors shown were gold, mauve, paprika red, yellow and pink.

In the main jackets are shorter, sometimes coming just below the waistline with tiny puffed or merely closely following the lines of the figure.

Skirts were particularly interesting with a great deal of interest focused on hemlines. Several revealed ruffled petticoats.

Simulated hoops and tiers also trim wide skirts and fullness is attained with pleats, plain and unpressed and Godet flares are used to give swirling, ballerina effects.

and Mary Adams as bridesmaids, wore gowns of mauve and gold respectively featuring long sleeves and double pouffed fishtail pelplums which gave them all a dreamy, romantic look.

Furs, styled with the utmost elegance were loaned for the occasion by Stan Walker and Company.

True reports on the works of the Red Cross by leading Canadian writers

The case of the 7 strangers

by Claire Wallace

There is a man in Canada who has the blood of seven total strangers in his veins. Maybe you vince at that idea. He doesn't. Without it, he would be dead.

Two years ago he was seriously injured in a crash. He received desperate head injuries, and a delicate operation was imperative. But shock and loss of blood had so weakened him that he couldn't have survived one. If... seven strangers had not stepped in.

They were Canadian men and women who had each given a blood donation to the Canadian Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service. When the doctors called for blood to save the life of the accident victim, it was the blood of those seven which pulled him through.

"Were you one of them?"

Today, he is a healthy, happy, useful citizen of Victoria, British Columbia. The only thing that marks him as different from the average man is a rather searching look that sometimes comes into his eyes as he walks along the street. For he often thinks of the seven who saved his life and wonders who they are. As he looks into a stranger's face, he silently asks: "Were you one of them? If so, I thank you from my heart."

Similarly, the mother who gave birth to twins and would have died except for blood transfusions... the baby so anaemic at birth he could be kept alive only by donated blood... the maimed... the sick... the old—all those who owe their lives to blood transfusions say: "Thanks, unknown friend."

Free blood for Canadian hospitals
The Red Cross Blood-Transfusion Service plans, as soon as possible, to extend whole blood and plasma free to all patients needing it, in hospitals across Canada. Already, two provinces—British Columbia and Alberta—provide this life-saving service. Last year, Alberta and British Columbia distributed 21,044 bottles of whole blood and 2,364 bottles of plasma, resulting in the saving of many lives.

But it takes money as well as blood to save these lives. Remember this, as the Canadian Red Cross appeals to you now for funds. Give generously. A life may depend upon your donation.

The work of mercy never ends... Give generously to the CANADIAN RED CROSS

Red Cross Services include: Blood Transfusion, Outpost Hospitals, Aid to Sick and Disabled Veterans, Treatment for Crippled Children, Disaster Relief, Nutrition Services, Home Nursing Courses, Swimming and Water Safety, etc.
