LAST JOURNEY

Some day I shall journey forth to that quiet place,
Where time is not and sleep is long,
And where I shall forget the pain that made my soul ache
Like the broken cadence of an unfinished song.

However, the same winds will croon by hill and river,
Joy and mirth will ring beneath the moon and stars,
But they will bring to me no tidings whatsoever,
Of all the little earthy joys and lifes smarting scars.

For the bright days shall ne'er find me going
Across lawns cool with star dew 'neath gleaming skies,
And where white mists softly are clinging
O'er branches where a bird sings to the gates of paradise.

Night too, shall ne'er find me journeying
Down where moon shadows softly weave and net,
And where my dreams took flight like bright birds winging,
Where fairy clouds and stars along the milky way met.

Yes, someday I shall go forth to that quiet place of rest,
That's beyond the sunsets amber colored bars,
But before I reach the threshold I'll bequeath my quest
To the winds and rivers and the choiring stars.

Lillian O'Donnell.

Bringing American Dollars to Canada

In 1947 Canada's trade with the United States exceeded two and three quarter billion dollars. It is the heaviest two-way trade in the world. Canada's need for American dollars to sustain this trade is vital.

Who brings American dollars to Canada? People who make and export goods; and people who cater for tourists. And, of course, your bank helps... by financing business and industry to expand production for export. This is one of the many ways in which Canada's system of competitive banking serves the Canadian people.
