Best Men For Party

blurted out: "Look around us! Workers have automobiles. They have enough food. Look at their homes with nice lawns. Nobody seems to bother anybody. Here I am abroad a month—yet dressed better than one of our most important engineers in Russia could afford after working ten years."

I let him continue. It did me good. "There are only twelve million people in Canada. Yet they produce everything from thread to railroad engines. Not only that. They also export. What is the secret?"

I leaned over and picked up a blade of grass, trying to seem unconcerned. "It's only a secret to us. For them it is old stuff. They say private enterprise and complete freedom is responsible."

Koulakov looked startled. He glanced behind, alarmed that such thoughts should have been expressed, possibly within the hearing of somebody dangerous.

Do Russians Criticize Openly?

Johnson: Gouzenko: Near my Ottawa home was a fruit store. The owner, an old fellow, unconsciously influenced me. He was Lithuanian, uneducated, too simple, I knew, to be skilled in lying. Aside from the wonders of his oranges, peaches, pears and bananas, his remarks awed me. Once, he said: "No damn chance I vote for Liberals this time—not last time, either, not this time sure!"

This astounded me. Later he said he was suing the city of Ottawa for some infringement on his little property. I was even more impressed. This old fruit dealer showed no fear of secret agents. He knew nothing about me, not even my name. Yet he spoke freely and emphatically as no native of Moscow would, ever dare speak. And he spoke surrounded by fruit riches. Moscow people hadn't tasted in years.

Helping YOU Grow is Our Business

Behind the entries and withdrawals on the books of our branches... behind the records of loans made and repayments met... are numerous stories of human progress.

... like the story of Jimmy now going to college, who used to visit us weekly to deposit his news-route earnings...
... like the case of Bill who started his successful business with a sound idea, modest capital, and the help of a bank loan...
... like Bob and Betty now nicely settled with a new house and growing family who are glad they took their Bank of Nova Scotia manager's advice and held onto their bonds...

Helping you grow is the essence of banking as we see it at The Bank of Nova Scotia. Why not talk over your financial plans with your Bank of Nova Scotia manager... you'll find him a good man to know.
