Semanyk — Krakana

St. Mary's Orthodox Church decorated with Summer flowers and lighted candles was the setting for a lovely wedding on Sunday afternoon when Helen Krakana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Krakana became the bride of Alex Semanyk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Semanyk, Guelph, Ontario.

Rev. Tofil Maxins officiated at the ceremony and appropriate music and hymns were rendered by the church choir.

Given in marriage by her father the petite dark haired bride was radiantly lovely in a gown of heavy white slipper satin, fashioned with moulded bodice, an angelic yoke of nylon net trimmed with Brussel lace forming an off the shoulder effect and long tight fitting sleeves forming points over the wrist. The skirt which featured tiers of tiny bows around the front fell into a circular train in the back. Her long veil of embroidered net was caught with a scalloped crown of matching net and flowers and she carried a cascade of tea roses and shattered carnations. She also wore the gift of the groom, a gold-filled cross and chain.

She was attended by Mrs. S. Krakana as matron of honor, who wore a frock of Molyneux blue sheer, featuring shirred bodice, sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, and full bouffant skirt. The blue bolero was trimmed with sequins and she wore a halo of blue mohair and nylon trimmed with pink velet ribbon and a cluster of roses shading from palest pink to wine. Her corsage was of pink roses and she carried a huge lighted candle according to Roumanian custom.

Miss Ann Semanyk, sister of the groom as bridesmaid chose a gown of deep purple styled with fitted bodice, cap sleeves and softly gathered skirt. Her headress was of yellow net caught at the back with a velvet bow and held in place in front with yellow roses. Her old fashioned nosegay was of yellow-roses and shattered carnations.

Miss Anna Krakana, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid was frocked in bluish pink sheer with moulded bodice, puffed sleeves and full skirt. Her headress was of blue nylon and roses and she carried an old fashioned nosegay of roses and bouvardia.

Miss Viola Good, as bridesmaid was gowned in ice blue satin and dotted Swiss fashioned with neckline of Swiss, satin bodice buttoned down the long torsoed back and full skirt of Swiss net over satin. Her headress was of pink nylon and roses and her old fashioned nosegay was of Tallman's roses and bouvardia.

Flower girls were little Sophie Krakana and Victoria Krakana, young sister and cousin of the bride. Both little girls wore identical frocks in pink and blue respectively styled with fitted yokes, full skirt with bottom frill and puffed sleeves. Their headress was of ribbon and flowers and they carried dainty baskets of assorted flowers.

Groomsman was Mr. S. Krakana and ushers were Mr. Eddie Sapinski, Mr. Mike Krakana, brother of the bride and Chester Michalak.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner and reception was held in St. Mary's Hall where the bride's mother received wearing an afternoon dress of beige crepe, beige and white accessories and corsage of red roses and fern.

Mrs. A. Klapuchuck, aunt of the groom, also received and wore an afternoon dress of black and white printed crepe with matching accessories and corsage of red roses.

Later, the bride and groom left for a trip to Toronto, Guelph and other Southern points. For travelling the bride donned a smart two piece suit of lime green with black accessories and corsage of ivory roses and shattered carnations.

On their return they will reside on 9 Birch street N.

Out of town guests were Miss Ann Semanyk, Guelph and Mr. and Mrs. S. Krakana, Golden City.

Gifts to the attendants were lovely plectrums.

Mrs. Blanche Meakin, manageress of Bucovetsky's Outlet Store leaves to-day for Toronto and St. Catharines. While in the latter city Mrs. Meakin will attend the wedding of her daughter Rita to Michael Baran.

Kelly — Peters

Beautifully decorated with spirea delphiniums, gladioli and peonies and the guest pews marked by white ribbon bows and spirea, Christ Anglican Church, Mardale was the setting for one of the seasons loveliest double ring ceremony's at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon when Elizabeth Ann (Betty) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Peters of Mardale and Terrence Bolton Kelly, son of Mrs. Hazel Kelly of Timmins.

Rev. Canon R. S. Jones officiated and the wedding music from Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. W. E. Harris, who also played during the signing of the register "Through The Years".

The bride given in marriage by her father was lovely in a gown of white pointe d'esprit with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long tight fitting sleeves and bouffant skirt. Her full length veil was held by a matching halo trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried white gardenias in true lovers knots tied with white satin baby ribbon.

Miss Marian Sandereock of Toronto was maid of honor and wore a gown of rose-corded taffeta and carried a nosegay of tea roses.

Misses Ruth and Jean Peters, sisters of the bride as bridesmaids wore gowns of similar design in blue and aqua respectively and carried nosegays of pink tea roses.

Miss Ruth Smith as bridesmaid wore a gown of pink corded taffeta and carried a nosegay of pink tea roses.

Little Kathleen Pometeer was flower girl and wore a floor length gown of bluish pink corded taffeta with a wreath of flowers tied with veiling in her hair and she carried an nosegay of roses and bouvardia.

William McCagerty of Timmins was groomsman and the ushers were Harold Whitney of Toronto and Jack Rodda of Timmins.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where guests numbering one hundred from Timmins, North Bay and Toronto were present. Receiving, Mrs. Peters wore a smart afternoon dress of pale blue eyelet pique and corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Kelly, mother of the groom also received and wore a chic afternoon dress of salmon pink crepe with corsage of yellow roses.

The table from which a buffet lunch was served was graciously laid and was centred with a three tiered wedding cake flanked by tall white candles in branch candelabra and the flowers of the bride and her attendants. Music during the luncheon hour was piped by pipers Angus McCormick of Priceville and Carmen Roseborough of Durham.

Later the bride and groom left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and other Southern points. For travelling the bride donned a classic suit of light blue with small poke bonnet in matching color and white accessories. Upon return they will take up residence on Runnymede Road, Toronto.
