Introduction

These documents were transcribed here in order by the date of each pay period or muster roll. The microfilm documents were not in this order. There were multiple copies of some documents and those usually included some changes. The transcribers comments appear in square brackets.

A number of these payrolls include detachments in which the 3rd York men served with the 1st York and 1st Durham men. Note that there were variations in the spelling of the men's names. Some men served in more than one company during the war and some were transferred between regiments and corps. It was difficult to ascertain which of the men in the mixed detachments were from the 3rd York Militia. The transcriber has identified as many as possible in each set of Remarks, based upon the same names having been found in other 3rd York companies and detachments.

The 3rd York men were present at the Capture of Fort Detroit, the Battle of Queenston Heights, and the Capture of York. Captains Heward and Cameron commanded flank companies at Queenston. For a number of reasons, those payrolls were not found in this collection.

The muster area of the 3rd York included the townships north and east of the Town of York. The 1st York Militia mustered from the town and the 2nd York Militia mustered from the townships to the west.

This set of documents included muster rolls, pay lists, pay adjustments, officer's property tax on pay, killed and disabled lists, officer's commission and promotion dates, retired officer lists, and returns of men and ordnance.

As well as routine militia serve, from the document titles and remarks, men were absent with and without leave, deceased, detained by sickness, deserters, disabled, escorting American prisoners, exempted from service, hidden in the woods, impressing teamsters, in companies, in detachments, in gaol, in the cavalry, in rifle companies, in Scotland, in the artillery, in the commissariat, in the engineers department, in the field train department, in the hospital, in the King's works, in the presidents office, in the transport services, killed, looking for deserters, officer's servants, omitted from pay lists, on bateaux service, on command, on duty, on furlough, on guard, on parole, on public service, paymaster clerks, prisoners, promoted and demoted, repairing roads, substitutes for other men, sick at home, teamsters, transferred to other companies or regiments like the Incorporated Militia, and wounded.

Daily pay rates were:

Colonel	17 Shillings
Major	16 Shillings
Captain	10 Shillings 6 pence
Adjutant	8 Shillings 6 pence
Lieutenant	6 Shillings 6 pence
Quarter Master	6 Shillings 6 pence
Ensign	5 Shillings 3 pence
Sergeant Major	2 Shillings
Sergeant	1 Shilling 4 pence
Private	6 pence
Officer's Horse	2 Shillings 6 pence

There are at least three other sets of documents from this regiment in other collections. Captain Samuel Ridout's Order Book is online from Collections Canada at <http://data2.archives.ca/e/e435/e010869208.pdf>. His May 7, 1814, Muster Roll was also available online but I do not have a source for it. Captain Cameron's 1812 muster rolls transcription is at <http://my.tbaytel.net/bmartin/militia.htm> and includes a muster roll of men at the Capture of Fort Detroit. There may be other documents in other collections. If you find more, please let me know.

[This document was not certified and dated. There was no explanation given for why some men had an X after their names. Militia desertion was common in 1812. Only one man was known to have deserted and joined the Americans. Microfilm t-10379, Documents 216 to 223 were a copy of this document with additional names, remarks, and Xs. Some of those remarks referred to Militia Land Grant documents issued in 1820 and later. There were also some spelling variations in surnames. These changes were recorded in square brackets above.]

“Return of the 3rd Regiment of York Militia 24th March 1813”

[The 3rd York Militia compiled a Return for the regiment. It was commanded by Lieutenant Colonel William Chewett and Major William Allan. George Duggan was the adjutant and Charles Baynes the quartermaster. There were eleven companies composed of from three to 113 men in each company. Ensign Donald McArthur was excluded from service in a company as he had refused to join the Whitby Company. There was a total of 495 men available to be mustered in the regiment.

In addition, fifteen were reported dead, twenty-seven had been discharged, twenty-eight had deserted, and 127 were exempted from service as over fifty years of age, by order of the surgeon, or as Quakers, Menonists, and Tunkers. Of the men exempted, eight were sergeants and the remainder were recorded as privates.

The eleven companies were recorded as John Denison's, Duncan Cameron's, John Playter's, David Thompsons', Samuel Ridout's, Stephen Heward's (three gentlemen (officers) of the late flank companies), Thomas Hamilton's, the Yonge Street Company under John Scarlett, the Town Company under Edward McMahon, William Jarvis', and John Robinson's.

[Cameron's, Ridout's, and Hamilton's Companies were in the garrison.]

“Note Those of Capt. Denison’s Company positively came and delivered themselves up. Those of Captain Thomson’s Company said to be through fear. Those of Capt. Ridout’s Company said to be on private business and as no good subject could have any legal business in York during the time it was in possession of the Enemy, they must either have come to York with an intention of giving themselves up, or of plundering His Majesty’s Stores, or of receiving plunder from the Enemy and the whole of the aforementioned delinquents ought to be considered under this head, as their places of residence was in a situation where the Enemy had not penetrated.”

"Return of the 3rd Regiment of York Militia 4th June 1814"

[At this time, there were nine companies with twelve to 111 men in each company. Ensign James Chewett was at St. David's and Ensign D'Arcy Boulton had gone to England. There was a total of 412 men available to be mustered in the regiment. Sixty of these men were officers.

The nine companies were commanded by John Endicott, Duncan Cameron, Ely Playter, Isaac Secor, John Wilson, John Scarlett, George Ridout, Thomas Matthews, and William Smith.

Since March 24, 1813, nineteen men had died, deserted, or moved out of the muster area. Eighty-five men were exempted from service by their age, a certificate from the surgeon, or because they were Quakers, Menonists, or Tunkers.]
