TERRACE BAY WATER GRADE A

Recent tests by the Provincial Department of Health, rate Terrace Bay's water supply at Grade A.

Should there be a serious fire, however, requiring the use of large quantities of water, it would be necessary to pump unchlorinated water directly from the Aquasabon River into the water mains, in which event all water used for human consumption would have to be boiled until such times as the water supply was again properly chlorinated.

In preparation for such a possible emergency, which would require prompt action in order that everyone might be advised of the need for boiling the water, notices were recently printed for distribution if and when required.

At that point the old rumor factory began to churn (it often gets the jump on the Terrace Bay New). First thing we knew, people were boiling water all over the place (even some of the newlyweds). And it really isn't at all necessary. If and when the water should be boiled, everyone will be notified promptly.

To an individual, the removal of a bowl, a knife, a fork, or a plate from one of the dining halls may seem to be an insignificant matter. During recent weeks, however, the removal of such items from the dining halls has increased considerably. This equipment is the property of Dominion Catering Company and should be promptly returned.
