

TALENT SHOWS Our first attempt at a Talent Show met with great success last Thursday night at the Recreation Hall. An approximate total of about 60 or 70 people turned out to hear and see the abilities of some of our residents. All in all, we had eleven entertainers take their turn on the stage and demonstrate very vividly that we are definitely not without talent in Terrace Bay. Mrs. Stan Hodgkiss did a splendid job of accompanying most of the artists, in addition to rendering two well chosen piano solos.

Among those who chose to sing were the following: Bill Miller of the Hotel Staff, who sang a couple of ballads; teen-ager Rose Compton, who showed plenty of promise as a Blues Singer, as did Betty Doerksen of the Hotel Staff (next time we hope she brings along her guitar). Donna Woods and Aileen Boudreau did an excellent job of singing a duet. Not to be outdone by his sister, young Jake Compton displayed that he is no slouch when it comes to blowing into a harmonica. By way of deviation from the musical end of the evening, Ken Weppler did an impersonation of a news commentator replete with German accent et al; while John Curnew of Dominion Catering did a splendid recitation of that old favorite "Dangerous Dan McGrew" (legitimate version).

To top off a very entertaining evening, Father Roenicke and Alphonse Roussell displayed some very nimble finger work on the piano keyboard.

We'll be out there again this week, next week and every Thursday until further notice, so whadayasay folks, come on out and enjoy yourselves.
