

A Plea From One of Our Citizens - Last week I lost my purse, a brown alligator clutch bag with zipper on three sides, which contained my Post Office Key, house keys, a Parker "51" pen, a lighter and a small amount of money. I lost it in the short distance between the store and Birch Crescent, somewhere in the vicinity of the School grounds. We have no duplicate keys, and both the pen and lighter have sentimental value to me, being a graduation and a birthday gift. I would appreciate anything you may be able to do for me. I have offered a reward.

Sincerely,
Mrs. A. Reynolds,
House #168.

AN OPEN LETTER TO NEW FATHERS:

(Here is an Excerpt from The Times-Journal of April 10th. We think it might be of value to you).

"THE SCANNERS CORNER - We met one who might be called the "Methodical Father on Saturday. The gentleman was in Fort William from a municipality a few miles away, here, among other reasons, to do some shopping. It seems he had become a father for the first time about a month ago and one of the purchases he had to make was a baby carriage. Now the average new male parent, facing such a situation would visit one or two stores for the sake of making comparisons, pick out one good looking number that seemed reasonably priced, and then tell the clerk to send it to the house. But not this man! He went first to the Public Library. There he asked the attendant in the reference department for everything she had on baby carriages. Only after having digested the material on file in the Library did he walk back to the stores to make his selection."
