

THE BEST SAFETY DEVICE IS JUST ABOVE EACH MAN'S EARS

In writing a "squib" for this week's Terrace Bay News, related to accident prevention, it is probably important that we should again stress something which is overlooked too often.

In the minds of many, a good accident prevention programme is one which stresses the elimination of mechanical hazards and plays an important role, is Good Housekeeping around the Mill. Such factors are certainly of value, but there is another phase of accident prevention which is much more important since it is directly related to the cause behind at least 90% of all industrial accidents today. It has to do with the human failings which are the root of the overwhelming majority of on-the-job injuries. Carelessness, thoughtlessness, failure to wear protective equipment, non-observation of Mill Rules related to Safety, all these and many other "human hazards" are our biggest obstacles in the path of a really imposing safety record, free from the many evils which accompany all disabling injuries.

Let's make no mistake about the fact that the best of all safety devices is to be found just above each man's ears. Everyone is urged to make the most of this fact, for by so doing, the vast majority of all our accidents can be eliminated.
