BLUE CROSS ANECDOTE

While this is not one of our regularly scheduled write-ups on Benefit Plans, a story has come to hand which just points out the fact that there are still a few persons in Ontario who don't quite fully understand how their benefit plans work.

"A young man troubled with all sorts of complaints went to his Doctor. He found nothing wrong with the patient, however he learned that he had been living a spartan life on the farm with regular hours and regular habits for 22 years. The doctor decided that a change might be good for the patient so he prescribed a holiday in the city. Going to Toronto for the first time, the young man checked in at the Royal York and had a wonderful time sleeping in and having his meals served in his room. After a couple of days of this leisurely life, the patient told the room clerk that he had decided to stay for a full 51 days and continue his new type of life. The clerk eyed the guest from the country and said: "I suppose you know that this is costing about $12.00 per day." "Oh, that's all right" was the quick reply, "I've got Blue Cross".
