It is one of the failures of our philosophy that we confuse education and intelligence as much as we confuse plumbing and civilization.

One ounce of intelligence is worth a pound of education, for where there is intelligence, education will advance on its own, but where education alone exists the results can be terrifying beyond even the realms of untutored stupidity.

When the young stenographer met her roommate at the lunch counter, she was brimming over with joy. "I think," she triumphantly announced, "that the boss has decided to let me keep the job."

"Has he said anything?" her friend wanted to know.

"No", replied the happy girl, "but this morning he bought me a dictionary."

LIBRARY NEWS

Hours:- Mon. and Wed. - 2 to 4 p.m.
Tues. & Thurs.- 7 to 9 p.m.

New Books:

Brave Company - A novel by Guthrie Wilson about the war. It gives the truest picture of infantry fighting and living, has the clearest, least arty grasp of the fighting man's whole response to his smashing experience.

The Nymph and the Lamp - A novel by Thomas H. Raddall. This is an eloquent love story as powerful as the surging sea of which it is so much a part.

Badlands Justice - by Dan Cushman. A good Western filled with the smell of sagebrush and burnt powder.

Home Country - by Ernie Pyle. When Ernie Pyle departed for the Pacific Theatre, from which he never returned, he said: "I hope someday you people will publish the book of mine that I like best myself." "Home Country" shows Ernie at his best - one of the very few fine American writers which our time has produced.
