

CHILDREN'S SWIM MEET

In spite of the cool breezes and all-time low water temperature of 63 degrees on Saturday afternoon, September 1st, a handful of hardy youngsters turned up at the swimming pool to vie for honours in the swimming events for which they had practised so faithfully all summer.

Now that the pool is closed for the summer, it is encouraging to note that a total of 24 swimmers were able to pass their Red Cross tests this year. In the beginners class, eight qualified for Junior certificates, thirteen more are qualified for their Intermediate crests, cards and pins and the three who qualified for their Senior's standing are now in a position to try for their Instructor's certificates. All in all, a very successful swimming season has just been completed and Eric Siiling, who is now away on a well-earned vacation, is to be commended for his patience in teaching the children to swim.
