GUNNERS' COLUMN

Tuesday evening saw preparations for an N.C.O.'s course under way. This course has received the go-ahead from the powers that be. Every assistance is to be supplied by the higher echelons, including special instructors from time to time throughout the course. All N.C.O.'s who wish their present rank confirmed will attend this course. It is hoped all will attend as temporary ranks cannot be carried indefinitely. The first classes of the course will open Thursday evening, January 17th at 1915 hours.

Also on the same evening, at the same time a course for all ranks interested and not on the N.C.O.'s course, will be started on Signals. This is a specialty course and should be taken advantage of. Radio inter-communication, handling, repairing and general knowledge of radios will be the main features. Our instructors are prepared to put a lot of work into this. Don't disappoint them!

There are still openings for quite a number of men. For particulars see us at the Armouries, South Camp, any Tuesday or Thursday evening.
