

MEN'S CURLING CLUB

This week has seen heavy action in the New Year's Bonspiel and by the middle of next week the Consolation, at least, will have been decided.

The great decision awaited by the Curling Fraternity was handed down by the Executive Board Saturday night: Valigrodsky gets the chickens. And the Turkey Bonspiel is now a matter of record. The ruling of the Board was based on records of a past meeting stating bonspiel semi-finals and finals would be 10 ends, plus the fact that this particular game was posted as such. This was taken to supercede any local arrangements between skips. Tough luck, Jack, you proved yourself and your rink to be good for the long haul.

Next week will see the start of the Hiram Walker event. Watch for your schedule of play, skips.

The Marathon Elimination event is "off to the races" with three good teams dumped already. Craig slipped it to Wellings, Monteith topped Lohr, and Boudreau poured it on Roddy. Boudreau, ably supported by Valigrodsky, Campbell, and Pattison, in that order, proved to be a smooth combination.

We are glad to note a few victories: Haughn got well organized and beat Cliff Knauff in the New Year's Bonspiel, while "Old Man Olsen" finally broke into the win column at the expense of Al McColl in a close one.

HOME & SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Another interesting evening is being planned for the monthly meeting of the Home & School Association, to be held on Monday, January 21st, at 8:00 p.m. in the Terrace Bay School. Mr. M. O. Nelson, Industrial Engineering Superintendent, will be the guest speaker and has taken for his subject, "Work Simplification in the Home".

Now that a 40 hour work week is instituted in our mill, what chance is there to have a 40 hour work week in the home? By applying work simplification principles to the house work it might be possible to realize this shorter work week in our homes.

Since any time saved, and fatigue reduced, from house work will give extra time to be spent with our children, this sounds like a worth while objective.

Refreshments will be served.

Anyone interested in a First Aid Course, come out and vote as the possibility of a First Aid Course will be discussed at the meeting.
