SPRING CLEAN-UP TIME IS HERE

Canadians probably keep more rubbish than any country in the world. We also have a poor fire rate. There's two reasons for this rubbish record: First, national procrastination -- the "I'll-take-care-of-the-trash-barrels-tomorrow" philosophy. Second, we have a lopsided sense of thrift. We are a nation of string-savers and trivia collectors. We HATE to throw anything away. We "hang onto things" like Aunt Ermitrude's moth-eaten muff and three-legged furniture in the vain hope that "we may be able to use them SOMETIME".

Good housekeeping is the key to fire safety. A good housekeeper not only keeps dirt and rubbish to a minimum but through a regular check-up keeps a gimlet eye out for any fire threat.
