ADULTS BOOKS"Christian Love" by Paul E. Johnson.

Christian Love undertakes a social and psychological study of Christian love - an investigation of what it means, what it requires of us and how we succeed or fail in serving the cause of love.

BOY'S BOOKS"The Pearl Lagoon" by Charles Nordhoff -

Charles Seldon, a young Californian, leaves his father's ranch to sail to the South Seas with his "rainbow chasing" Uncle Harry on a quest for a certain bed of gold-lipped oysters. His thrilling adventures with man-eating sharks and present-day pirates are told in this book, with a wealth of detail about pearl diving and fishing.

"White Mare of The Black Tents" by Eleanor Hoffmann. Even for the ardent equine enthusiasts who read "every single horse story published" this stirring book will offer something fresh and original.

"Trap-Lines North" by Stephen W. Meader.

Based on actual diaries kept by a young woodsman. The book presents a true picture of life in the northern wilderness that will thrill the heart of any boy who has heard the call of the great woods.

TENNIS

In the local tournament Boycott and Buck beat out Dalzell and Cadieux Friday night to meet Akpata and Barth. The finals were played off Saturday at 1PM. Akpata and Barth took the first set but Boycott and Buck broke through in the second set and finished it off by taking the third quite handily to become the doubles champs.

In the singles, E. Akpata and C. Buck fought it out for the Crown. After losing the first set 7-5, Buck came back in the second to win 8-6 and took the third 6-4.

On the consolation side A. Lindskoog after losing 7-5 in the first set came back to win the second and third sets from Buhler by 7-5 and 7-5. This match took a week to play off---- a new record in match play. Lindskoog now meets Dalzell to declare the winner.

On Sunday a group of the local club went to Marathon for an afternoon of tennis. There were some very good games played and our local club made a very good showing coming out of it with a tie on the eight matches played. Everyone enjoyed themselves so much that they stayed on for some games in the evening returning to Terrace in the wee small hours of the morning. Those missing the trip missed a good time.

ATHLETES DO WELL AT MARATHON

Last Sunday, when a Baseball Team a Ladies Softball Team and a Tennis Team journeyed to Marathon for some inter-town competition, they redeemed themselves very well. The Baseball team came out of their tussle with a 12 all draw; the Ladies won theirs by a score of 19 to 9 and the Tennis crowd won 50 per cent of their matches. Well done, Gang!
