

Dear Zeke,

Shore has been along time since ah rote chu last but the other day our sow hadda brood o pigs and one of 'em looked jest like you and we named it Zeke so thets how ah happened to think about riteing you.

We uns hev been fair tuh middling since we were at Turrus Bey but we ain't had sech a right smart time since thet Barn Dance. So I was jest thinking thet ah just bought myself a new pair of overalls and wouldn't it be a good thing if you uns would throw another party like the last sos I'd have sum place to wear em. I hate to use em for work until they gets dirty.

Otherwise, things ur about the same. We shure did appreciate Sears Roebuck combining with Simpsons cause the catalog is much thicker now but I shore wish theyed make the paper a little less slick.

Yore friend,

Clem

(Editor's note: Sure sounds like Clem is figurin' on another barn dance, eh?)

SHOOT AT HORNS - NOT HATS

A timely reminder hangs over near the Machine Shop entrance (Hunting Headquarters branch office run by Gordon Kydd - yes, they still admit that the real Headquarters is somewhere in the Administration V.I.P. cell-block). It shows an excellent set of antlers with the slogan - "Shoot at Horns - not Hats". All hunters should avoid bringing tragedy close to home by heeding every possible precaution.
