

PEE WEE HOCKEY NEWS

There are fierce battles being fought all over the world but some of the fiercest are waged on the rink after school on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The teams seem to be well balanced. The puck just can't make up its mind which net to fly into.

So far, the Leafs, under Hector McLeod, have won one game and tied two to give them a total of four points. The Hawks (due, no doubt to the good coaching of Jim MacDonald and Reg. LeBlanc) have won two games and tied one to give them the grand total of five points. At the bottom, but coming up fast are the Canadiens under the direction of R. Scowen. They have tied one game to give them one point.

If you like hockey, don't spend your money going to the Maple Leaf Gardens or Schreiber. You will see just as hard a game fought with just as much spirit right in the back yard of the school. Come along and cheer your son to victory.

New Books for Children:

"Maggie Muggins and Mr. McGarrity" by Mary E. Grannan.

"The Secret of Red Gate Farm" A Nancy Drew Mystery Story by Carolyn Keene.

"Charter Pilot" by Jack Hambleton. Test pilot for a new airplane! That came right out of the story books. But that was how Bill Hanson became acquainted with the "Fisher", an acquaintanceship that grew to such enthusiasm that he decided "to go for broke" and buy one for himself.

"Arrow Fly Home" by Katharine Gibson. A very important thing about this book is that the Indian is neither angel nor savage, but a man living according to the ways of his people. Their ways will be as appealing to other boys as they were to David.

"Anne Frank" The Diary of a young girl. An extraordinary document of adolescence translated from the Dutch. Introduction by Eleanor Roosevelt.

"The Mystery of the Tolling Bell". A Nancy Drew Mystery story by Carolyn Keene.

"Rosamunda" by Mary C. Hatch. The story and pictures of a special pig.

"Jets of the World" by Maj. C. B. Colby.

"Tommy-On-Time" by Virginia Novinger. Full colour and black & white illustrations.
