SUNDAY NIGHT FILMS

EYE WITNESS NO. 43 - This is your chance to discover Paris and to see Paris discover Canadian troubador Felix Leclerc. A wandering mistrel of the modern kind, Leclerc sings for a growing audience of night club patrons. The ballads are his. Other items of this film show Ottawa's junior traffic patrol guarding school crossings and the industrious boat builders of Deep Cove, B.C.

VOICES FROM ACADIA - The boy's choir of St. Joseph's University, New Brunswick, sing six songs which show their amazing versatility. Prize winners at the International Eistedfod in Wales, the choristers in this film choose songs of several countries. They sing in English, others in French, and one, a Gregorian chant, in Latin.

CANADA AT THE CORONATION - A feature film rivaling ROYAL JOURNEY in its intensity of interest the warmth of its appeal and in the distinction of its presentation. Photographed by National Film Board cameraman, the film has a distinctly Canadian point of view of both the Coronation and the preparations. Many sidelights of London are shown, as for instance Canadian servicemen on a shopping spree in Petticoat Lane, and Mounties exercising their horses in Hyde Park.
