Close Mills So 2,000 Can Fight Fires

Timmins, June 17 - All lumber and mill operations in the Cochrane-Sudbury districts were stopped today and the mill hands sent to fight forests fires. An estimated 2,000 men are involved.

Men fighting an out-of-control forest fire in Childerhouse township today were reported overcome by smoke and were treated with medical supplies flown in yesterday when several other fighters suffered burns, officials said here today.

Rain which fell on five fires during the night checked them briefly but weary fighters reported the flames still out of control today.

E. A. Hall, district forester in the Cochrane area, announced a travel ban on all roads in the Cochrane and Sudbury districts. "People are still coming up here trying to get through. They are being turned back," he said.

Fires are burning over Childerhouse, Reeves, Keefer, Gogama and Kenogami townships. Hall reported the Childerhouse blaze the worst. It is inaccessible by road and all men and equipment have to be flown in. Low lying clouds as well as the heavy smoke pall increased risks in controlling the blaze today, he said.
