THE SNOW-BLOWER IS DANGEROUS

Parents are again urged to issue stern warnings about the dangers of the snow-blower used in town. Children often play near the snow-blower when it is operating. They think it's fun to get sprayed by the snow. One major hazard is the fact that the blower often picks up sizeable stones which are blown out with the snow and could cause serious injury. Secondly, the screw mechanism at the front of the equipment, used to draw the snow into the blower could inflict fatal injuries on anyone becoming involved. SO PLEASE WARN THE CHILDREN OF THESE DANGERS.

KIWANIS SAFETY COLUMN

As the Christmas season rushes upon us, let us pause for a few minutes and think about the safety of our children.

Here in Terrace Bay, we are blessed with an absence of fatal accidents among our young folk. But with the coming of holiday season, when they will be spending much more time out of doors, we might think about these safety points:

1. The streets are no place for hockey and other games.
2. Little tots should not be on the streets alone, especially during the rush hour traffic.
3. A car, which can stop in only a few feet on a dry street, may require ten times that distance on a snow-packed road.
4. Not all accidents occur because of careless drivers. A pedestrian can be just as much at fault, but will be more apt to not live to tell about it.
5. Do not ride a bicycle on a slippery street, walking may be slower, but, like the tortoise, you will be surer of getting there.
6. If we think of safety among our children in the townsite now, we trust that they will all be well and safe when the New Year arrives.
