LIBRARY NEWS

The Co-Op Bookmobile called here last Thursday and an exchange of children and adult books and records took place.

The Listening House - Mabel Seeley

Mrs. Seeley is well known as the writer of suspense murder mysteries. When Gwynne Docres lost her position in an advertising company she had to find cheaper accommodations. Because the room was cheap she became a roomer in Mrs. Garr's unsavory lodging house. From then on her days were filled with unquieted doubts and the nights with mounting horror.

Variable Winds at Jalna - Mazo De La Roche

The author's latest novel closely follows the events of "Renny's Daughter" and the time is the summer of 1951.
