CREDIT UNION NEWS105 Years Service

Canadian Credit Unions are also growing rapidly and we too have friends in the financial institutions.

Noting that the credit unions were celebrating 105 years of service, the President of the Bank of Montreal sent the following message to CUNA, the Credit Union's National Association.

"I would like to be of the first to congratulate your association on the progress it has made--particularly in recent years--and, as the Association's bankers, we are glad to be linked, in some degree, with the excellent work you are doing".

"There is no doubt that the Credit Union is performing a most useful function in the Canadian economy and I would like to convey my best wishes for your continued progress."
