June 22nd, at 10:00 a.m. Mrs. Ed Pineault presided at the organ, playing Lohengrin's "Here Comes the Bride", "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register and finally, "The Wedding March".

Given in marriage by Dr. M. McCausland, the bride was attired in an afternoon dress of pale pink nylon with tiny white dots, over pink taffeta slip. The full skirted gown featured the new low waistline, high collar and three-quarter length full sleeves with tight cuffs. She wore matching pink slippers and a hat trimmed with small pink rosebuds. The bride carried a white covered prayer book, a gift from her parents, with two white satin streamers to which were attached tiny pink rosebuds.
