ALL-OUT DRIVE BY POLICE FORCES CUT TRAFFIC FATALITIES-ACCIDENTS BY 50%

Reduction of traffic accidents and resulting deaths in Ontario by as much as 50 per cent, during the next year is the objective of the Provincial Government's "Traffic Safety Through Law Enforcement" campaign which started on November 1st, under direct of Attorney-General A. Kelso Roberts, Q.C.

The launching of this drive against traffic infractions and resulting traffic accidents was marked by appeals on the part of Lieutenant-Governor Louis O. Breithaupt, Premier Leslie M. Frost and other provincial leaders to the public for co-operation.

The campaign is headed by Attorney-General A. Kelso Roberts and Highways Minister James N. Allan. Assisting them is a committee made up as follows: Senior Solicitor E. H. Silk of the Attorney-General's Department; Motor Vehicles Registrar J. P. Bickell of the Highways Department; Chief Constable C. W. Farrow of Windsor; and Senior Staff Inspector W. C. Clark of the Ontario Provincial Police, who has been appointed Ontario's traffic safety director.

Inspector Clark has been given wide powers to co-ordinate the work of the OPP in the matter of traffic law enforcement.

Chief Constable Farrow of Windsor, who is an official of the Ontario Chief Constables' Association is handling liaison with chief constables throughout the Province.

Since November 1st, the resources of the Provincial Police and of municipal forces throughout Ontario are on a 24-hour watch for lawbreaking motorists. Attorney-General Roberts has ordered every available vehicle and constable of the Provincial Police assigned to traffic duty.
