

CONCERT SERIES

Despite stiff opposition from hockey and various other activities connected with life in Terrace Bay, a few faithful followers were on hand last Thursday evening, January 26th to enjoy an evening of musical entertainment when the third concert of this winter's series was presented at the High School Auditorium.

Stars of the evening were: Andrea Hansen - violinist; Zenona Gawiak - soprano; James MacDonald - pianist and Salvatore Pantalone - baritone. Repeating her successful performance of last season, Miss Hansen again gave brilliant interpretations and as an encore, the popular Hora Staccato by Dinicu-Heifetz was her choice. Rallying from a sharp and sudden attack of influenza Miss Gawiak appeared on the second portion of the programme with selections of a lighter air, "Romance" from the Desert Song by Sigmund Romberg the most pleasing.

Leader of the group was Mr. MacDonald, who, with his years of varied experience as a concert artist, gave a faultless performance, both as soloist and accompanist. As encore, Mr. MacDonald delighted all with his own short version of the Warsaw Concerto by Adinsell. Mr. Pantalone, - well-known on radio and television - thrilled his audience with his showmanship. His magnificent voice lifted you from the somber mood of "Evening Star" from Tannhauser to the snappy Creole folk song, "Michieu Banjo". A wonderful performance by a grand little group!

News has just been received that the very popular Commodores will be guest artists at the next concert on February 23rd.
