most fortunate to be living in Canada. He described practice alerts, particularly one held in Fort William, the training school he attended in Arnprior, and the job he now held of setting up a Civil Defense system for this district. With the possibility of Terrace Bay being a target held as highly remote, the town would be set up as a reception area to act in a welfare capacity. Civil Defense was beneficial in peace time as well as wartime, having proven its worth during Hurricane Hazel and many other emergencies. Chief Lockwood was thanked by John Wade for his most capable explanation of this subject.
