

THE STORY OF BOWLING

In 1910 while Torontonians Ryan and his associates were launching Canada's five-pin game, a Pittsburgh bowler arrived at his favourite alley with a set of rubber-banded duck pins.

This game originated in Baltimore Md., in 1903 and in 1910 the "rubber band" type of duck-pin bowling was originated in Pittsburgh, Pa. These games are now supervised by the National Duck Pin Bowling Congress. Today there are more than 250,000 adherents of the rubber-banded duck-pin game and it is rapidly becoming the most popular game in Quebec as well as elsewhere in Eastern Canada.

A half-century ago New Englander John J. Monsey devised his own game with tall, thin pins dubbed "candle-pins". This form of bowling was slowly accepted throughout the New England states and in the Maritime provinces.

While the sport of bowling is certainly a top favourite of adults, it is rapidly becoming a favourite indoor pastime for boys and girls. In 1953 more than 50,000 youngsters, boys and girls, participated in sanctioned leagues, under the supervision of the American Junior Bowling Congress and some 1,600 teams of teenagers took part in the annual "Mailographic" tournament in 1954.

Also, in Western Canada, they have a high school championship. A special day is set, and the games are played by a telegraphic system.

Clearly there is more to bowling than smooth co-ordination between your footwork and the delivery of the ball. Good bowling form consists also of a spirit of healthy competition and morale-building companionship. You are taking part in one of the most fascinating games in the world, a game enjoyed and played in one version or another by king and commoner alike for at least seven thousand years!
