"MARCHING MOTHERS" CAMPAIGN TO ASSIST VICTIMS OF POLIO

Mothers throughout Terrace Bay will be on the march from seven to eight P.M., on Thursday, January 31st. Their aid has been enlisted for the March of Dimes Campaign which is held each year to aid the victims of poliomyelitis.

In a blitz campaign, the marching mothers will call at homes and while any size donation will be welcome, the canvassers will be prepared to issue receipts at the door for donations of one dollar and over. These may be used for income tax deduction purposes.

The campaign, which is being held all over Ontario, is being done by women, because "it has been learned that when women handle this type of campaign the results are more effective and more remunerative", according to Mrs. Aileen Simpson, Lakehead area secretary with the Ontario Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis.

Mrs. Simpson reports that the campaign has had one very satisfying result before it even begins. One team captain, a paraplegic victim herself, has been kept so busy telephoning canvassers and is so engrossed in the campaign that she has found herself able to move her legs which were previously paralyzed for three years.

Mrs. Simpson thinks the campaign work has provided this woman "with the best therapy she could have had".
