LIBRARY REVIEW

"Home Before Dark" - Eileen Bassing

This novel begins where The Snake Pit left off. It illuminates the struggle of a vital young woman to regain her place in a world of normal people after release from a mental hospital.

When Charlotte Brown returned to her husband, her family and the prim college community where they lived, she was shocked to find her newly gained freedom a fraud. In her pleasant New England home she remained as much a captive as formerly she had been behind locked doors. Arnold, her husband, was an ambitious professor, weary of his obligation to an ailing wife. Her relatives were accustomed to running her household and her husband. Charlotte finally makes one last desperate attempt to come back from her unreal world with absolutely no help from her family.

The Library now has a copy of Webster's New World Dictionary available for reference.

ALPHONSE THERIAULT WINS T.V. SET!!

At the finals of the "Know the Answer" Contest last Thursday, Alphonse Theriault of the Engineering Department was the winner of the 21" T.V. Set.

A good program was lined up for this evening which included two excellent safety films, a display of safety equipment and the awarding of door prizes.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a flag from the Ontario Pulp & Paper Makers' Safety Association to the LongLac Pulp & Paper Company as an award to LongLac as the winner of the Ontario Pulp & Paper Makers' Safety Association Class "A" mills safety contest in 1956. This presentation was made by D. B. Chant, Secretary Engineer of the Association to J. C. Wig, Mill Manager of the LongLac Pulp & Paper Co.

Mr. Chant congratulated all the employees of LongLac for the accomplishment of being the safest mill in Ontario during 1956.
