Construction of a permanent home office building in Chicago at a cost of nearly a million dollars will begin late this winter, the president of Kiwanis International, Mr. H. Park Arnold, Glendale, California, announced recently in Chicago during the organization's late-summer Board meeting.

The new building, which will be headquarters for the international service group will occupy property at the corner of Rush and Erie Streets on Chicago's near north side. The site is one block west of the city's famed "Magnificent Mile," and about five blocks north of the Chicago River. The building will contain approximately 35,000 square feet of floor space in a ground level, a first level, and a second level.

The building will be of modern, light construction, air conditioned throughout. Its exterior will be composed of dark opalescent imported granite and textured light Georgia marble, with enameled extruded aluminum pilasters and plate glass windows. A ground level, landscaped court and a parking area will share the rear portion of the property. Provision will be made to enlarge the building by constructing a multi-story shaft of office space above this court as the need arises.

The new building is designed to provide facilities for the administration of approximately 7000 Kiwanis clubs, the organization's 1965 goal. (Nineteen hundred and sixty-five will be the 50th anniversary of Kiwanis International.) Currently, there are 4400 Kiwanis clubs and approximately 251,000 Kiwanis members in the United States, Canada, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands.

The site for the Kiwanis home office was purchased last year when it became evident that the continued enlargement of the service organization and the necessity for an ever-increasing staff was causing Kiwanis to outgrow its present quarters at 520 North Michigan Avenue. Headquarters personnel numbers 125.

Architects for the Kiwanis home office building are Mielke and Smith, of Chicago. Consultant is Mr. Leon Chatelain, Washington, D.C. architect, who is President of the American Institute of Architecture.

"Construction of this new building is Kiwanis declaration of faith in the future of Chicago, of the U.S. and Canada, and the people who have built this organization into a 251,000 man force for good," Arnold said.
