SCOUT NEWSBLACK BEAR "BANTER"

The meeting of Thursday February 11th opened at 6:30 with 18 boys and six leaders in attendance.

The colour party was formed by the Eagle Patrol.

The boys did a few of the second class exercises and some signalling after which all Scouts joined in a game "Capture King Charles". The "emergency" for the week was to rescue a boy with a broken leg and give first aid.

A successful meeting was adjourned at 8:30.

On Sunday, a week or so ago, some of the Scouts of the Black Bear troop went on a hike accompanied by a Scout Leader. It was a perfect day for such a venture and it proved quite a success. Following the expedition, Jackie Crandlemire (age 11½ years) penned his version of the trip. Here it is.

THE HIKE THAT SHOULD NOT HAVE BEEN MISSED

At approximately 1:30 a happy ninesome left the Post Office on a hike that should not have been missed. In single file our group hiked west to the top of the first hill beyond the bridge. With snowshoes well secured we took to the bush. While taking turns breaking trail we decided to have names for these according to their ability. Jack C. was given the name "gumshoe" because he was slow and he had trouble with his snowshoes. Lorne T's name was "snurttle" because he was always lagging behind. John R's name was "Johnny Longway" because he always took the longway. Freddie E's name was "wrong way Fred" because he was always going in the wrong direction. Derek W's name was "mouse" because of previous naming. Brian H's was "toe Hu" because his foot kept getting caught in his snowshoe. Mike S was called "poky" because he was the slowest and he always had trouble with his snowshoes.

Then we saw mouse, partridge, weasel, rabbit and fox tracks. We saw where a weasel had chased a partridge and where it took off. Then we came to a beaver dam. He had chopped down about twenty trees. There was a hole in the ice where he went into his home.

We travelled on until finally we came to

Lake Superior. It was the bay where the Patrol Leader and seconds went on their overnight hike. We made camp and some of us ate. Then we put the fire out and left for home. We reached the highway about six o'clock. Four of us waited for the slow pokes about five minutes then walked along the highway and decided to sing songs then Scouter Jim S. left us and the rest of us broke off at the Rec. Centre.

Altogether it was a good hike.
