COUNT YOUR CHILDREN

Count your children before leaving camp, Lands and Forests officers advise. At Sauble Falls Provincial Park, a small girl came crying to the park office. This began an investigation which revealed that her father and mother had accidentally left for home without her. Apparently, two families had been camping together; the girl's parents thought she was in the other family's car. So, before breaking camp, count heads--- especially children's heads, park staffs urge.

TRAPPING BEAVER IN GERALDTON AREA

Ontario Lands and Forests officers are trapping 150 beaver in the Geraldton area north of Lake Superior where they are plentiful and will fly them in to help stock the Central Patricia area in the Ontario hinterland. Before their airlift north, the beaver will be sexed, tagged and tattooed. This is the third consecutive year for the live-trapping programme which, it is hoped, will built up the beaver population so that Indian trappers can begin limited trapping once again.
