Miss Cathy Smith pinned a corsage of feathered pink carnations on Theresa upon her arrival and she was seated in a decorated chair. Her gifts from the group, stainless cooking utensils and place settings of china, were camouflaged to resemble the bride and groom surrounded by their luggage, off on their honeymoon.

Many games entertained the ladies during the evening and the bride was also showered with recipes, the favourite of each lady present.

Pouring tea were Mrs. G.A. Scott and Miss May Duquette. Covered by a lace cloth, the tea table was attractively centered with a cake ornamented to resemble the bride and flanked by white tapers in (Cont'd Page 9)
