STAN HODGKISS VISITS THE CRISSON'S IN BERMUDA

Stan Hodgkiss, who recently returned from vacationing in Bermuda, reports that he had an enjoyable visit with Herb and Gwen Crisson while there.

Their family now includes Heather who was born in Terrace Bay, Jennifer and six month old Herbert.

Herb is self-employed at his profession of Civil Engineer and also manages a real estate business, taken over from his late father. A building and construction boom on the island has kept him very busy for some time.

Stan's visit included a trip to the site of the Crisson's beautiful new home which, while it will conform strictly to typical Bermudian structure and appearance, will contain many of the latest North American home and efficiency improvements.

An interesting feature will be the name of this new home. In Bermuda, there are no street numbers. Houses are identified by either distinctive names or by names associated with the owners. In the case of the Crisson's present home, it is known as "Bland House" as Bland is Herb's second name. An uncle is also called 'Herb'. Their new home will be called "Terrace Bay".

Herb and Gwen send greetings to all their friends here. Their present address is:- H.B. Crisson, "Bland House", Devonshire Parish, Bermuda.
