MINOR BASEBALL CHAMPIONS

Champions have been declared in the American League and the National League, after some closely contested play-off games. In the American League, the YANKEES defeated the TIGERS in a two-out-of-three semi-finals, and then ran into stiff opposition from the league-leading INDIANS in the finals. The two teams split the first two games, but the INDIANS claimed the championship with a decisive win in the last game.

National League champions this year are the GIANTS, who came from last place part way way through the year to finish strongly and claim the crown. In the semi-finals the DODGERS defeated the PIRATES, and the GIANTS defeated the BRAVES in two very close games. In the finals, GIANTS were victorious in two straight games, although both games were in doubt until the final out. Indicative of the close play were the scores of 10-8 and 5-4.

Players on championship teams will receive championship crests at the annual Summer Awards Night in August. ALL PLAYERS SHOULD REMEMBER THAT THEY ARE ELIGIBLE TO TRY OUT FOR THE ALL-STAR TEAM.
