term following their win. Leaders and lodge officers were at the head table where the official welcome was given by Verl Thompson, with Charles Chandler responding.

The civic welcome was given by Mrs. L. McCuaig, town councillor.

Several of the young visitors spoke briefly in appreciation of the welcome and the banquet.

At the end of the meal, the young people sang lustily several thank-you songs written especially for this purpose.

They left with a box lunch guaranteed to last until they reached the Soo, and accompanied out of town by a fleet of excited outriders on bikes.

Marlene Birch and Lois Inshaw were presented with honor rings by Rev. R.J.S. Inshaw at the morning service in St. John's Anglican Church. This is the highest award given by the Anglican Girls' Auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Krause have had with them Mr. and Mrs. Archie Leigh, of Lyonshead, and Dick Thonebohn of New York City. Together with Willy Heinrich they have fished many lakes and rivers in the district on camping expeditions for the past two weeks, enjoying their explorations as much as the fishing, which was good. For Gus, Dick and Willie, this is an annual happy re-union. The three who grew up together in Bremen, Germany lost touch for 26 years, finally located one another and have since arranged this annual summer meeting in Gus' home.

Guest speakers at special services in the Gospel Mission this week are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wardlaw, in Canada on a year's furlough from Brazil. They will return there in September. Also here is Harry Oosthuizen and his wife, who will graduate from London Bible Institute in December and return as missionaries to their home in South Africa.

Last week householders in the district were solicited by salesmen whose "pitch" included a promise of food at "wholesale" prices. Quite understandably district merchants were aroused by these intinerant pedlars who contribute nothing to the economy of the district, either in taxes, living expenses or by employing any local help. While many community minded citizens refused to bargain with these salesmen, some did succumb to their promises.

We urge everyone to support local merchants - their prices are fair and their quality of merchandise excellent.
